Ex-Marine Credited With Heroic 'Save'

By STEPHEN FOX

Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "I'm not a hero, I'm a live coward," said Oliver Sipple who authorities say may have saved the life of President Ford.

"It's probably the scariest thing that ever happened in my whole life," added the 33-year-old ex-Marine.

Sipple said he grabbed the arm of a woman, later identified as Sara Jane Moore, who was holding a .38 caliber revolver as Ford was leaving the St. Francis Hotel. Mrs. Moore, a 45-year-old divorcee, was charged with attempting to kill the President.

Sipple said he had noticed Mrs. Moore in the crowd as he waited for Ford to leave the hotel.

"She was there for an hour or two," he said. "Then the President came out and he waved and I started to clap for the President.

"Then I noticed a chromeplated gun and I screamed 'gun' as loud as I could, and grabbed her arm. I don't know when it went off. Next thing I know there are police and Secret Service all over us. They roughed me up some, but they apologized after."

Sipple said he just happened to be in the crowd outside the St. Francis Hotel Monday.

"I was going to Fisherman's Wharf and I walked by and saw all the crowds. I asked what was going on and someone said 'The President's there,' and I went down and got in line. I was there about three hours and people were moving away and I just kept going down until I got in the front."

"Why did I do it? It was a gun pointed at the President of the United States, that's why. I seen a gun and I took a dive for it. I don't even know what I felt."

Sipple, a heavy-set blond who served in Vietnam in 1968 and 1969 before receiving an honorable discharge, said he was on full disability because of mental problems relating to his combat experiences.

"I don't like violence," he said. "I got screwed up mentally because of war ... It was enough to wreck me."

Sipple said he only became frightened after the incident.

"I was shaking so bad I couldn't light my own cigarette. I just asked them to sneak me out of there (the hotel). I'm still shaking."

"After the entire incident, two policemen grabbed me and one thanked me. Then the Secret Service came and one of them thanked me for saving the President's life."

"I'm not a hero, I'm a live coward," Sipple said.

surf and lashing rains.

Only 24 hours after being reclassified a hurricane deep in the Gulf of Mexico, the storm thundered ashore between Fort Walton Beach and Panama City, wreaking havoc in both cities and in a 40-mile stretch between.

Trees, power lines and billboards toppled before the onslaught, and the area was plunged into darkness in the gray dawn as power transformers exploded in brilliant showers of blue-green sparks.

Thousands of people along a 100-mile stretch of shoreline had fled in a last-minute rush to escape the oncoming fury of the storm in the darkness of early morning.

WASHINGTON (AP) —

President Ford, declaring that he will not cower before would-be assassins, plans to continue his campaign-style travels despite congressional fears and questions raised by a security breach one Republican called incredible.

Ford's second encounter in 17 days with a gun-wielding woman in California, this one punctuated by the crack of a pistol shot that missed, raise one central question:

How could it happen?

This time, the attempt on the President's life was made by a woman who managed to get within 40 feet of Ford carrying a .38-caliber pistol — despite the fact that the Secret Service had questioned her Sunday as a potential threat to his safety. Ford was not wearing a protective vest at the time the shot was fired.

Released Sunday not only from custody but also, apparently, from any surveillance, Sara Jane Moore, 45, was waiting when Ford emerged from the St. Francis Hotel late Monday.

San Francisco police, who also questioned her Sunday, had seized a pistol from her at the time, but she had a new one Monday, just purchased. According to the FBI, Mrs. Moore later said she was surprised that she had so much time for the attempt.

Like Lynette Alice Fromme, who had pointed a pistol at Ford from two feet away as he shook hands in Sacramento Sept. 5, Mrs. Moore was known to local authorities as a political extremist. The FBI said she had once been a paid informant for them.

Unlike Miss Fromme, Mrs. Moore fired. The President had spent less than two minutes all day before open, outdoor crowds. He was about to enter his bullet-proof limousine to head for the airport and Washington.

It became a high-speed ride, the President on the floor, shielded by his bodyguards. But that precaution, like the weapons searches at his indoor stops earlier in the day, did not come at the moment of peril.

The "incident" prompted congressional demands for an investigation — and one for a shakeup — of the Secret Service.

It also led members of Congress and rival presidential candidates to urge that the President curtail his public appearances and his handshaking forays into the crowds he attracts.

But Ford, back at the White House just before midnight, said that would be "capitulating to violence" and he vowed not to do it. He said Americans have a right to see their President and shake his hand. "Under no circumstances will I ... capitulate to those who want to undercut what's good in America," Ford said.

Furthermore, Ford had only commendation for the Secret Service. "Let me say most emphatically, I thank the Secret Service for doing a super job again," he said. "They really were tremendous in the things that they did that were necessary and essential."

After hours of silence, the Secret Service issued a statement confirming that its agents had, indeed, questioned Mrs. Moore on Sunday.

That was first disclosed by San Francisco police, who had questioned her, too, on the basis of an anonymous tip that she had a handgun.

She admitted to the police that she had a pistol and she took it out of her purse. They confiscated it, cited her for the misdemeanor of having the weapon, and released her pending a court appearance.

The Secret Service said the police had brought Mrs. Moore.

White's Suit Halts Trooper Training

By PATRICK CONNOLLY

Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A lawsuit charging the State Police Department with discriminating against white men led a circuit court judge to temporarily bar training of new recruits.

Fred Gibson, 23, of Lansing, forced the indefinite postponement of a new class of trooper trainees Monday with a suit claiming he was ruled ineligible because he is a white man or college graduate.

Ingham County Circuit Court Judge Thomas Brown issued a temporary restraining order preventing a new class from being held for some 84 State Police students. A hearing on the suit is tentatively scheduled for Friday before Judge James T. Kallman.

Gibson claims he scored higher than most other applicants based on exams to enter the State Police Training Academy in Lansing. After the tests were given, 117 applicants were informed they could start classes. As of last Friday, 84 applicants indicated they would be there Monday when the doors opened.

Gibson claims his score of 90 per cent out of a possible 100 should have gotten him into the class on "merit." The brochures advertising for troopers did not say preference might be given to minorities.

Capture Of Patty Is Just The Beginning

Capturing Patricia Hearst, William and Emily Harris and Wendy Yoshimura may have brought to an end one of the most intensive manhunts in U.S. history, but the streets are far from the resolution of the case. Assuming the defendants beat the state and federal charges to bank robbery and related weapons of forces — the judicial action which now takes over the case could extend even longer than the 19 months which elapsed since the bizarre kidnapping of Miss Hearst captured national attention.

"Any number of loose strings remain to be tied together by the FBI and other law enforcement agencies in the strange circumstances which have surrounded the case from the outset. It seems a strong probability, for instance, that a number of individuals may have aided and abetted the fugitives in their prolonged flight from arrest."

If the trail the fugitives left behind did extend from coast to coast, as numerous reported sightings have suggested, it stretches credibility to believe the self-appointed revolutionaries were able to provide without outside help the transportation, housing and other necessities required. Knowingly aiding a fugitive is a criminal act.

Then there are the special circumstances surrounding Patricia Hearst's participation in the offenses, at what time she became a willing member of the SLA gang and under what duress her alleged participation was obtained.

Patty's wealthy papa and mama maintain that if Patty did, indeed, commit the violent criminal acts of which she's accused, she was either coerced or brain-washed.

For her part, Patty doesn't seem to want the public to think that. Right after her arrest, she grinned happily as she gave a clenched fist salute and signed the booking sheet as an "urban guerrilla."

It looks like the arrest of Patty and her buddies is most of all the beginning of a long legal snarl.

Perhaps the day will come when foreign dignitaries can visit Washington without the President of the United States feeling a necessity for dispensing millions of dollars in gifts. But that day is not yet.

Preparations already underway for the visit of Japanese Emperor Hirohito to Washington include an appropriation of $20 million for a United Nations university in Japan. The $20 million is but a first installment on a total bill to the U.S. taxpayers which is expected to reach $50 million.

Japan hardly is a backward nation and the U.S. is, in case Washington forgets, undergoing severe economic

The theoretical cost of starting a family this year and rearing two children through college is $240,000, says Money magazine.

By far the largest single expense parents can expect over the next 22 years is the cost of education, which will amount to a staggering $23,000 a child. College costs in the magazine's analysis are based on attendance at a public college and have been inflated at four per cent a year. The American Council on Education estimates, however, that these costs will rise

South Haven Chamber Disagrees

With Writer's Penetrator Views

Editor:

On Tuesday, Sept. 2, 1975, a Mr. James Gersonde, president of Gersonde Equipment Company, wrote to the Editor concerning the need of an additional I-94 penetrator route into the St. Joseph area. In this article, he made some statements concerning the City of South Haven that are not correct. His statement was as follows, and I quote front The Herald-Palladium — "It would be interesting to know how many of the people who are opposing the penetrator have been downtown in the City of South Haven in the past twenty years. South Haven was bypassed many years ago and no convenient route to the downtown area has ever been made. Now, it is double bypassed. Think about those things and think about 'the fantastic growth in the City of South Haven."

The Greater South Haven Chamber of Commerce wishes to reply to this statement:

1. We have three penetrator routes leading directly to the only two traffic signals on this route and it happens to be a full five lanes from I-94 to the downtown business district.

2. As far as "fantastic growth" is concerned, those of you who have visited South Haven recently will note the resurgence of recreational businesses on the north side of the river with several new restaurants and continuing development of our Black river waterfront area. Approximately 35 to 40 new boat slips are now under construction and plans for 72-foot slips for large sailboats are in the works for the area in front of the Mariner's Inn restaurant.

The city council, in conjunction with the city planning commission and the chamber of commerce is in the process of finalizing plans for renovation and development of the downtown business district and the waterfront area west of the business district to the lake. In addition, this past year a new boat launching facility was put into operation — the Black River park for the use of fishermen and pleasure boaters who trailer their craft. These facilities include paved parking, restrooms and tennis courts. This project cost approximately $165,000 to complete and is certainly one of the finest boat launching areas on this side of the lake.

In conclusion, we feel that the business community is "alive and well" and making real progress for continued growth and development. We feel that Mr. Gersonde's comments concerning the importance of adequate penetrator routes are well-taken, however, we disagree with his example concerning the South Haven area.

We invite you all to visit South Haven and see for yourself.

Foresight Rare In Planning

Washington — (NEA) — For all his economic sins and slavish worship of computer readouts, one concept Robert Strange McNamara brought to Washington and the Pentagon should be adopted as gospel by every president, senator and representative.

McNamara, it will be recalled, established the five-year look-ahead system in the Department of Defense. That is, each major project was calculated ahead by five years to determine what pressure it would exert on the budget. As McNamara knew, and as every president, and congressman should have learned by now, it's not the initial cost of a program — which may be in the low millions — that counts, but the cost after it has grown to adolescence and adulthood, which may run into billions a year.

In the 10 years between fiscal 1966 and 1976, health programs expanded by a factor of 10, from $2.6 billion to $28 million, veterans' benefits from $5 billion to $15.6 billion, federal employee retirement and disability from $1.7 billion to $7.9 billion, public assistance from $3.4 billion to $18.4 billion, and interest on the public debt from $12 billion to $38 billion.

This is not to argue that all these increases are bad. It is, however, to say that in too many cases little of this future growth was taken into account when the original projects were voted.

Once instituted, it is almost impossible to cancel or significantly reduce programs, even when they've grown out of all reason, or when their usefulness has ended, as almost any recent president could testify with strong feeling. Mr. Ford has had remarkable little success with his modest proposals along this line. Mr. Nixon failed completely. Few other presidents have dared try.

We cannot afford much more of such nonsense.

Fate Pointed To 'Squeaky'

Looking over the reports about Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme allegedly pointing a .45 automatic at President Gerald Ford in Sacramento, Calif., the casual reader might think it only a bizarre coincidence that she was a long-time member of Charles Manson's "family" of drug-sex-murder adepts. But there is much more to the Fromme involvement than that, and as you peel away layer after layer of the strange Manson thought would precipitate a race war, which the blacks would win. But he thought that, having won, the blacks would be incapable of governing. — Manson and the family are thoroughly racist — and would call Manson to rule from his own Colomby-les-deux-Eglises out in Death Valley. The anti-white would arise as Anti-President.

Manson, as has been widely reported, blames Richard Nixon for his conviction and incarceration for his "helter skelter" murder scheme was conceived as an attempt to pin a series of outrages murders on black militants. This Manson thought would precipitate a race war, which the blacks would win. But he thought that, having won, the blacks would be incapable of governing. — Manson and the family are thoroughly racist — and would call Manson to rule from his own Colomby-les-deux-Eglises out in Death Valley. The anti-white would arise as Anti-President.

According to a very carefully researched book called "The Family" by Ed Sanders, the Manson anti-world not only involved drugs, sex, and murder, but also ritual animal and human sacrifice accompanied by blood drinking — and much of this pleasure was recorded on movie film.

The details of the Manson family's practices as revealed by Ed Sanders' book are startling enough. What is even more of a shocker is the fact that the family was by no means isolated socially. A substantial number of well-known figures from the movies, the music world, and elite society interacted with the family for the sake of kicks.

In the beautiful semi-tropical garden around the State Capitol in Sacramento, when Lynette Fromme allegedly pointed a .45 at President, the weird family once again intersected the ordinary world, but that was a moment long prepared for, and which might have been anticipated.

But there is much more in Fromme's formulation. Nixon is in virtual exile, but Ford now stands forth as Nixon's "reality," or surrogate. And of course Manson is in prison — and guess who his surrogate is?

Now, interestingly enough, it was Nixon himself who made first Presidential contact with the Manson family when he let slip that premature public comment about Manson's guilt. For then President Nixon, as for a great many Americans, Manson clearly possessed what Conrad calls "the fascination of the abomination." As the epi-

Court Denies Request To Halt Dial-A-Ride

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A Berrien Circuit court judge yesterday denied motions for temporary and permanent injunctions which would have prevented Dial-A-Ride (DART) buses from operating in the Twin Cities area.

Judge William S. White ruled the damage to the public if the injunctions had been issued would have outweighed the damage to a rival bus company, which sought the injunctions.

The injunctions were sought by Joseph R. Mammina, owner of Twin Cities Motor Transit, who claimed the local DART program was incorporated under the Metropolitan Transportation Authorities Act, which calls for the purchase of competing transportation systems when a new transportation authority is formed.

The Twin City Area Transportation Authority, which operates local DART service, claimed it incorporated under the state's Mass Transportation act, which does not require the purchase of systems.

The suit by Mammina also seeks $200,000 damages from the Authority, claiming he has nearly been put out of business by DART.

White said that part of the suit will be determined at a trial, at which time the judge will also determine issues of law in the case, rule what act the Authority should be under, and if it was incorporated under the right act. No date has yet been set for trial.

Members of the local DART Authority are the Cities of St. Joseph and Benton Harbor, and the Townships of St. Joseph, Benton, and Lincoln townships. Lincoln township was a member but withdrew.

Mammina claimed in the suit that he has operated his bus service since 1948, but that since DART was instituted he has been unable to operate at a profit, and currently runs only one bus. A recently issued report by the Authority indicated DART served 140,000 passengers in its first year.

Frost Morticians Buy Florin Chapel

The father-son partnership of John and Ralph N. Frost today announced purchase of the former Florin Chapel, 272 Pipestone street, as the new Benton Harbor location of Frost Funeral Home.

The Frost Funeral Home had been at 420 Pipestone street since 1951 when John Frost bought the Slaughter and Hill Funeral Home from Hugh J. Hill.

The Frosts also own Frost Funeral Home of South Haven, at 901 Bailey avenue, acquired in 1970. John Frost, 57, is resident director at South Haven, and Ralph, 32, is resident director at Benton Harbor.

Sale of the former Frost home at 420 Pipestone also was announced by the Frosts. The property was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Baker of Dowagiac.

Baker said 420 Pipestone will be continued as a funeral home with the opening to be announced later.

Terms of the sales were not announced, Tom DeRosa was real estate broker in both transactions.

Florin Funeral Services, Inc., closed the Pipestone chapel last month, but continues to operate chapels in Fairplain, St. Joseph, Coloma and Stevensville.

The Frosts said acquisition of the chapel at 272 Pipestone doubles the space under roof from their former Benton Harbor location and provides off street parking.

The facility at 272 Pipestone has been a funeral home since 1948 and was expanded and remodeled in 1959.

John and Ralph Frost are both graduates of Wayne State University's School of Mortuary Science. John has 37 years experience as a mortician. Ralph became a mortician on graduation from Wayne State in 1965, then served three years in the Navy and joined his father in 1968.

Ralph, his wife, Ann, and son, John, live in Fairplain. John and his wife, Marjorie, live at the South Haven funeral home.

Snyder told police the two were 15 to 16 years of age and wore dark pants and grey-colored T-shirts.

Man, 72, Beaten Outside His Home

An elderly Benton Harbor man was hospitalized after an attack early today in which he was beaten and robbed by two boys, city police reported.

Listed in "fair" condition today at Mercy hospital was Alvin Snyder, 72, of 566 Cass street. He sustained a fractured hip and cuts and bruises about the head, police indicated.

Police said they were called to Snyder's home to help him get in after he apparently locked himself out. When police arrived about 12:50 a.m., they found Snyder at the rear of his home where he said he had been jumped by two boys who hit him with their fists and took his wallet, which apparently contained no money.

Snyder told police the two were 15 to 16 years of age and wore dark pants and grey-colored T-shirts.

NEW LOCATION: Frost Funeral Home is now at 272 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, after moving from 420 Pipestone street. John and Ralph Frost purchased new location from Florin

Funeral Service, Inc., which closed chapel last month but continues to operate four others in Twin Cities area. (Staff photo)

COMMISSION DENIES PERMIT

BH Opposes Drug Center In City

The Benton Harbor city commission last night passed two unanimous resolutions aimed at keeping a drug patient counseling office out of the city.

The first was acceptance of withdrawal of a request for a special use permit by the Riverwood Mental Health center to open an office in a house at 1297 Colfax avenue — a residential area, and approval of the city planning commission's recommendation that the original request be denied.

The second resolution said the commission didn't want a drug treatment office located anywhere in the city.

In a letter to the commission, Paula Andrusi, director of the center's drug abuse program, simultaneously withdrew the request for the Colfax location. She said the center would continue searching for a new location for its community outreach, alcohol abuse and outpatient heroin detoxification program counseling office.

The commissioners said they didn't want a heroin detoxification center anywhere in the city.

Several commissioners cited complaints to police and other problems when a heroin detoxification program operated previously on East Main street.

The proposed Colfax office would be for counseling of drug patients only and would not dispense drugs for treatment of patients.

The center currently operates the drug programs at a office at 127 East Napier, Benton township. A member of Riverwood's drug program told the commission earlier that the center was seeking a new office because they needed more space. Riverwood Mental Health center is headquartered at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

In other business, the commission set a public hearing for Oct. 6 on two companies' requests for designation as industrial development districts for tax exemption purposes.

The requests were made by Batson Printing Co., 185 Michigan street, and Martin Brothers Mill and Foundry Supply Co., 289 Hinkley street. Both requests were also forwarded to committee for study.

Tax exemptions for plants planning additions are provided for under the 1974 Michigan Plant Rehabilitation and Development Districts act.

The commission sent to committee a request by Charles Henderson to operate a recreation center at 69 Wall street.

Non-Economic Issues Aired By BH Teachers

Benton Harbor teachers spelled out many of the non-economic issues in their current contract negotiations but remained silent on their salary demands during four community open houses Monday night.

"We agreed with the board of education to keep our final salary proposal off the record until after we receive their contract offer today (Tuesday)," explained Mike Schroeder, vice president of the Benton Harbor Education Association.

"It was unforeseeable that negotiations would be at this point when we made plans for the open houses and we didn't want to give up those plans."

Negotiating teams from the BHEA and the board of education spent almost 10 hours in bargaining talks Saturday and Sunday and the teachers are prepared to take action today on a new master contract offer promised by the board.

Schroeder said more than 200 teachers and a "good turnout" of parents and other citizens attended the four open houses last night, which he said were designed to inform parents of the teachers' concerns and "that all we want is binding arbitration."

He said teachers also wanted to point out that "a lot of the main issues are non-monetary," including proposed restrictions on the grievance procedure and cutbacks in planning time and lunch hours for elementary teachers.

Schroeder said the board wanted to prohibit use of the grievance procedure by probationary teachers and to eliminate its use by tenure teachers in appealing teacher evaluations.

"The board is trying to make an attempt to connect salary with evaluation, and if they take the grievance procedure away a teacher would have no appeal," Schroeder said.

At present, the four-step grievance procedure involves appeals to the building principal, superintendent of schools, and board of education and finally, arbitration.

Schroeder said in the case of teacher evaluations, the board has proposed replacing the grievance procedure with a panel that would hear all evaluation complaints.

Schroeder also said the board wanted to cut back elementary teachers from a 45-minute, duty-free lunch hour to a 30-minute lunch hour that was not necessarily duty-free.

He said the BHEA had sought a one-hour planning period for elementary teachers — equal to that granted secondary teachers — but was "willing to live with last year's contract," which granted 35 minutes of planning time. He said the board has attempted to reduce even that amount of planning time, however.

The board of education is to present the teachers with a formal master contract offer today at 3:30 p.m. at the central administration office, 711 East Britain avenue.

Teachers will take action on the offer during a general faculty meeting scheduled for 4 p.m. at the high school.

Monday's open houses were held at the Model Cities Morton annex, the Benton township YMCA, St. Augustine's Episcopal church and the Second Baptist church.

JESSE OWENS ARRIVES: Jesse Owens, winner of four gold medals in the 1936 Olympic Games in Berlin, signs autographs after arriving at Benton Harbor's Ross Field airport Monday evening. Owens will be featured speaker for 1975 Blossomland United Way kickoff banquet at 7 tonight in Lake Michigan College student union. Some 500 volunteers are expected for banquet, which will launch campaign to raise $730,000 for 38 United Way agencies.

St. Joe Board, Teachers Reach Contract Accord

St. Joseph teachers and the board of education have reached tentative agreement on all parts of a new three-year master contract.

A joint statement by the board of education and the St. Joseph

Education Association this morning said agreement was reached after seven hours of negotiating Monday night.

The statement said details of the contract will be available as soon as a complete written contract is prepared for study and ratification by the SJEAA and the board.

Supt. Burton Aldrich added that details should be ready for release early next week.

Patriotic Banner Is Good Project

It's Bicentennial time. All across the country there are plans for parades, festivals, special events and commemorative displays. And chairmen are on the prowl for fresh ideas to add color and excitement to their projects.

Here's a suggestion for a patriotic wall hanging or banner, with motifs made from buttons and readymade appliques. Costumers provides these directions:

CHOOSE a fabric with a sturdy hand, such as kettlecloth. You'll need one yard for a 45-inch material.

FOLD the selvages in toward the middle and fuse together with an iron-on fusible material. Fray bottom end.

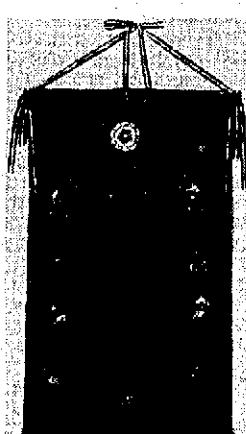

Pen-and-sketch design on front side.

Using the fusible material, attach appliques to fabric.

Use a light liquid glue to "baste" the buttons in place. Solid-tone buttons with four holes will be most effective.

Stitch buttons in position with embroidery floss in contrasting tone.

Staple top edge to wooden dowel, or make casing for dowel. Tie ribbons at ends of dowel as shown so banner may be hung.

Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at the Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in one week before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Engagement and wedding pictures are usually available at this newspaper office after publication for a short time.

A Token of our Highest Hope

When the French-Canadian architect, Louis Bourgeois conceived the nine-sided Bahai House of Worship, he dreamed of a new world order in which America would play a significant part. His dream was inspired by Bahai'ullah, founder of the Bahai' Faith, who proclaimed over a century ago the advent of the unity of mankind.

Rising on the shores of Lake Michigan, in Wilmette, Illinois, amid exquisite formal gardens, the Bahai' House of Worship welcomes all people to a haven of unifying thought and experience within its nine doors. This unusual edifice, recognized worldwide as structurally unique, represents a major architectural achievement of America's two hundred years. Yet the ideal it expresses—the oneness of mankind—remains among the unfinished business of the democratic experiment which began in 1776. It stands, then, as a token of the highest hope of the peoples of the United States and the entire world—the hope for universal peace and unity.

The members of the Bahai' Faith in over 5,000 localities throughout the Republic salute the nation on its Bicentennial and are proud and happy in sharing this worthy token of unity with all Americans.

All are especially invited during this Bicentennial year to visit the Bahai' House of Worship, just north of Chicago, in the heart of America.

Grow Hyacinths For Yule Gifts

This Christmas, you can give the living gift of spring to your family — with hyacinths in bloom!

Hyacinths — in reds and white and with their beautiful pastel shades of light blues, pinks and yellows — will provide the essence of springtime fragrance throughout the winter/holiday season, a breathtaking forecast of the future spring. Their softly sparkling hues will decorate your livingroom with spring beauty.

Here's how to go about creating a very special Christmas gift of potted spring hyacinths — not only for your own family, but for treasured friends or colleagues. All you have to do is follow a technique known as forcing and lend nature a hand in bringing hyacinth bulbs to bloom indoors. The key is timing — the bulbs must be planted now in the fall to bud at Christmas.

First, select top quality bulbs, large, firm, clean and free from scars.

Select plain containers that you can decorate with festive Christmas flourishes — a simple pot of clay, plastic or ceramic can be attractively decorated when you apply your own good imagination and design sense with paint and paper. Be sure the container has a drainage hole, and it must be twice as deep as the bulbs for roots to develop.

Light soil is best for potting. Combine equal parts of garden or potting soil, peat and sand, or vermiculite. Now, cover the drainage hole with pieces of broken clay or stones and fill the pot half-way with the soil mixture.

Place as many hyacinth bulbs in the pot as you can for an elegant growth of blooms. The bulbs should be set close together but not touching, about one-half inch below the container's rim. Or, if you want a change of pace, select one four or five-inch diameter bulb and plant one to a pot — so you can have many individual pots to set in different rooms for festive touches of color.

Once you've placed the bulbs in the pot, fill with soil and water well.

At this point, you're ready to give the bulbs the "cold treatment," creating an artificial winter to help force them into bloom. Bulbs should be stored for approximately 12 weeks in a cool, dark place 35 to 50 degrees. A cellar, garage or outdoor shed is fine. Or apartment dwellers can use a covered box on a window sill or a cold closet or even the refrigerator. Pots rooted indoors must be kept in complete darkness and watered thoroughly. If you have an outdoor garden, place the pots in a pit — deep enough for containers, a covering of three inches of sand and six inches of soil. Cover the bed with hay, straw, leaves or other mulch at the first sign of freezing weather.

After about 12 weeks of this "cold treatment" you're ready to bring the bulbs indoors. Bulbs ready to be transferred will have shoots about two inches high and you should be able to see the roots through the drainage hole.

Bring the pots indoors and place them in a cool area and water until moist to the touch.

When you see leaves and buds appear, move the pots to a warmer area with a temperature of about 65 to 70 degrees and continue to water.

Throughout all of these steps, three points are especially important:

— Water the bulbs regularly.
— Be sure the containers are well drained.

— Do not try to force the bulbs into flower before 12 weeks of cooling.

Hyacinths come in early and late blooming varieties. Among the early bloomers you'll want to consider for Christmas gifts are: The Pink Pearl (pink); Ostara (pussy violet, light purple/blue); Bismarck (methyl violet); Anna Marie (light pink) and L'Innocence (ivory white) and Jan Bos (red).

All of them will give you the sparkle of spring at Christmas time. A joyful Christmas to you and yours — with the Hyacinths of spring.

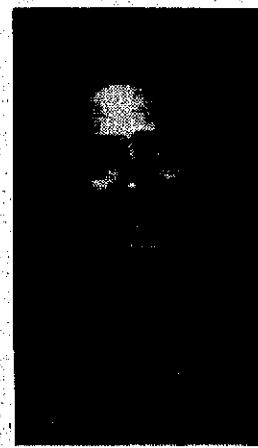

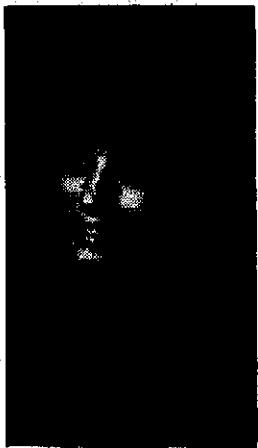

Place as many hyacinth bulbs in the pot as you can for an elegant growth of blooms.

Safety Tips For Ironing

The use of an electric iron can keep a person from facing society in a rumpled up condition.

However, like other electrical products, it can pose hazards to unwitting users. Underwriters Laboratories, a veteran in testing for public safety, has some words of advice for people who are planning on dusting off the ironing boards.

— Do not immerse the iron in any liquid.

— An iron that has been dropped or abused in any manner may have incurred some internal damage. A damaged iron or cord should not be used. Take the unit to a qualified serviceman for repair. A "do-it-yourself" mistake, resulting in an improper reassembly of the unit, could cause a shock hazard when the unit is put back into use.

— Keep the cord away from hot surfaces: Excessive heat can damage the cord's insulation. You should allow the iron to cool before storing it away. When storing, the cord should be loosely wrapped around the ironing board.

Your Problems' By Ann Landers

After 16 Years: Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Almost all the letters about bisexuality you have printed have dealt with males who went both ways. In my case it's my wife who is bisexual.

I learned of my wife's affair after we had been married a short time. She had known this woman for a few years but decided to marry me, have a family, and try to forget about her.

Sixteen years have passed. We have three perfectly beautiful children who seem well adjusted and happy. My wife and I have a nice, peaceful relationship — no problems so long as I don't show any signs of jealousy or animosity toward her woman friend.

We went for counseling (at my insistence) and to my great surprise the counselor said,

MICHIGAN PSC CHIEF

Panel Approves Demlow

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate Business Committee has decided to recommend that the full Senate confirm Daniel Demlow as Gov. William Milliken's appointee to head the Public Service Commission.

Demlow, 30, former state Insurance Commissioner, appeared before the committee Monday. He is acting director of the agency which regulates and sets rates for Michigan utilities.

Demlow succeeds William Rosenberg, who resigned after receiving an appointment from President Ford as a deputy in the Federal Energy Office.

The PSC was in the spotlight recently after granting rate increases to major state utilities. The hikes generally were approved by the two Republican members and disapproved by the single Democratic member.

Rosenberg currently is involved in a question of the propriety of including in a study of the Consumer Power Co. Marysville plant a recommendation that cost overruns be passed on to rate-payers.

The Business Committee voted unanimously to send letters to the full Senate recommending confirmation of Demlow.

The committee did not raise the issue of Demlow's current review of possible conflicts of interest among some PSC staffers. Newspaper accounts have revealed that a number of PSC staffers stand to pick up pensions from utilities when the workers retire. The staffers have denied that the pensions enter into their recommendations on rate hike requests.

"My greatest challenge is to make the right decisions," Demlow said. "The second greatest is for the commission to as a whole to convince the public that it has acted on their behalf."

He asserted the PSC staff is able to gauge independently the need for rate hikes without over-reliance on utility figures and claims. He acknowledged, however, that staffers become overworked when three or more big utilities flood the PSC with rate increase requests.

Gov. William Milliken has promised to stay out of PSC business, Demlow said.

"The decisions I make are mine and mine alone and the governor will never contact me about them," Demlow said.

Poisoned Stock Talks Under Way

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Top level talks currently are being conducted in an effort to avoid using state money to repay farmers whose livestock were poisoned by a fire-retardant chemical.

The talks were started after Michigan Farm Bureau Services Inc.'s insurance money ran out with nearly 700 farmers still unpaid, officials said.

So far, over $25 million in claims already have been paid in what has been called the largest mass livestock poisoning in American history.

The tainted feed was sold by Farm Bureau Services from mid-1973 until early 1974. The feed was supposed to contain small amounts of magnesium oxide, but instead was mixed with a fire-retardant bromine compound manufactured by Michigan Chemical Corp.

"The main thing we're trying to do is get parties from both sides to make arrangements for payment without having to use public monies," said Kenneth Frankland, legal advisor to Gov. William Milliken.

Frankland and Tom Jones, acting state insurance commissioner, have been holding the delicate negotiations aimed at creating a new insurance pool.

To date, the feed mix-up has resulted in the destruction of 18,000 cattle and over one million chickens, as well as other animals.

"We want to make sure the farmers receive fair settlement for their loss of stock."

Big College Tuition Hike Seen

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Tuition and fees for students at Michigan colleges and universities will jump 100 per cent in the next decade if inflation and legislative funding trends continue, according to a state study.

Tuition has increased an average 100.3 per cent since 1965-66, the Department of Education report said.

Officials of the Higher Education Management Services, who wrote the report, said chances are good that forces which caused the increase will remain in effect over the next decade.

The average student at a four-year state school pays $2,548 per year now. Students at private colleges pay an average $3,300.

The report, presented this month to the State Board of Education, reveals that the spending power of the state's 44 colleges and universities has risen only 10 per cent since 1965, while costs have jumped 10 per cent annually.

If inflation remains high and the legislature continues to cut the percentage of the budget it gives higher education, the buying power allocated to colleges and universities per student will plummet 15 per cent by 1980, the report says.

The report analyzes the fiscal viability of the state's 44 institutions of higher learning in terms of real dollars — spending power after adjustments for inflation.

John W. Porter, state superintendent of public instruction, said Monday that basic changes must be made in the way higher education is financed before current trends lead to disaster.

James Weber, director of the Higher Education Management Services, said he will recommend to the state Board of Education that a formula be adopted to erase inequities in appropriations.

"Among the 15 schools in this state that award baccalaureate degrees, there are some big differences between how money is appropriated," Weber said. "Some are receiving what others consider more than their fair share."

He would not elaborate, though he said that the University of Michigan feels it needs more money to maintain "what it considers a special role" in state higher education.

Weber said the formula would force the state to spend $60 million to bring some colleges' appropriations up to par with others.

The report noted the percentage of the state budget allocated to colleges and universities has fallen from 21.4 per cent in 1965 to 18 per cent in 1974-75.

About $337.8 million was allocated to higher education in this year's budget bill, compared to $178 million in 1965-66, but the increase is actually only 10 per cent when inflation is considered.

Judge Refuses To End Strike

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A circuit court judge refused Monday to issue a temporary order ending a strike against the East Lansing schools.

Judge Donald Reisig of Ingham County Circuit Court scheduled a hearing today on the suit filed by school officials.

The walkout Monday by custodians, cafeteria workers and bus drivers — who refused to cross picket lines — did not disrupt the half-day of school which had been scheduled.

School officials told children to bring sack lunches today, and encouraged parents to form car pools to get their children to school. Officials reported no problems or incidents Monday.

The workers struck Monday primarily over wages. The district's 14 bus drivers brought the total number of employees withholding services to 62.

A no-strike clause in an old contract prevented the district's 28 teachers from joining the walkout, a teacher union official said.

Patty's Own Words May Keep Her Locked In Jail

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patty Hearst's own words may haunt her. If defense attorneys try to contend the newspaper heiress remained an unwilling hostage during her 19-month odyssey with the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army.

A bail hearing was scheduled in U.S. District Court here today, and Miss Hearst's attorneys say she will testify or submit an affidavit in a bid for freedom on bail.

Miss Hearst has been held without bail since last Friday, when it was revoked by a judge who cited her taped statements and revolutionary rhetoric.

At that time, U.S. Attorney James L. Browning revealed the government planned to use Miss Hearst's own words to prosecute bank robbery and weapons charges here. He also pointed out that a pistol was found in her purse and two carbines were found in the closet of the apartment where she was arrested Thursday with another federal fugitive.

In taped communiques, the 21-year-old Miss Hearst has admitted participating in a bank robbery and repeatedly denied she had been brainwashed into joining the SLA which kidnapped her Feb. 4, 1974.

The first indication that the one-time University of California art-history major was identified with her captors came in a March 10, 1974 tape. "I no longer fear the SLA because they are not the ones who want me to die," she said. "I realize now that it's the FBI who wants to murder me."

An April 4, 1974 tape began with Patty saying she never had been tortured, drugged or brainwashed in any way. Then she announced: "I have been given the choice of being released in a safe area or joining the forces of the SLA. I have chosen to stay and fight." She said she had accepted the revolutionary name Tatia.

Less than three weeks later, she said she was a willing participant in a SLA bank robbery in San Francisco. The communiqué began: "On April 15, my comrades and I expropriated $10,660.02 from the Sunset Branch of the Hibernia Bank. I was positioned so that I could hold customers and bank personnel who were on the floor. My gun was loaded and at no time did my comrades intentionally point their guns at me."

Authorities say Patty sprayed a Los Angeles sporting goods store with automatic weapons fire May 16, 1974 to help two SLA members escape arrest for shoplifting. She is accused of kidnapping an 18-year-old youth the same day.

After six SLA members were slain the following day in a fiery

Los Angeles shootout, Tatia eulogized the six and proclaimed her love for one, Willie "Cujo" Wolfe. "We mourn together, and the sound of gunfire becomes sweeter," she said in a June 7, 1974 tape.

IN BOSTON on June 16, 1775, British Gen. Gage issued a proclamation offering a pardon "in the King's name, to all, except Samuel Adams and John Hancock, who will lay down their arms." Colonists were warned that "those who do not accept this pardon will be regarded as rebels and traitors." Three days later, June 18, the Massachusetts Provincial Congress, in reply to Gen. Gage's offer, declared that all those who "shall aid the British are enemies and traitors to their country." The World Almanac notes.

No Word On Fate Of Rebel Hostage

PARIS (AP) — The deadline set by a rebel African chief for the execution of a French woman archeologist passed today without word whether she had been ransomed or killed.

A French military plane was reported circling the area in northern Chad where Chief Hissen Habre of the Toubou tribe has been holding Françoise Claustre, 38, in the Tibesti desert for 17 months. Habre had said he would execute her at 10 a.m. (5 a.m. EDT) today unless the French government met his demand for supplies and money.

President Valery Giscard d'Estaing put a news blackout on the progress of negotiations that were reported still in progress earlier this morning. The circling plane was acting as a radio relay between the rebels and presidential advisers in Paris.

The French last Friday parachuted a ransom offer of $2.2 million in cash to the chief, a lawyer educated in Paris, along with a radio so he could reply. A French radio journalist who reached the rebel camp during the weekend, Jean-Pierre Farkas, reported that the chief wanted the French to return to a previous offer of $1.33 million worth of medicine, jeeps and other non-military supplies and $688,000 in cash.

The French revised that offer because the Chad government opposed the delivery of any supplies to the rebels.

The French government ordered Farkas' radio station to stop broadcasting his reports and also ordered a correspondent for the newspaper Figaro to stop filing dispatches. The government said their activities might impede its negotiations.

Assassination Attempt Mars Ford's 'Big Day'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — President Ford arrived in San Francisco Monday morning, ruddy-faced after a weekend of golf and eager to unveil a new energy program. He left town 5½ hours later, ashen-faced and shaken, near victim of a would-be assassin's bullet.

In Monterey, where President and Mrs. Ford had spent much of the weekend at a bayfront home, Ford worked late Sunday polishing the energy speech, to be delivered to a union group.

Aides said he was pleased with the results and was in good spirits as he left at 9:30 a.m. by motorcade and headed for the Monterey airport for a 30-minute flight to San Francisco.

The First Lady remained in Monterey, to fly later in the day to San Francisco to join Ford for the flight back to Washington.

Ford had two other appearances scheduled in the city, but aides told reporters on Air Force One that he would say nothing at those meetings that would upstage the energy talk.

The President wanted the Monday evening network news shows and the Tuesday morning headlines to reflect his proposed $100 billion Energy Independence Authority which he said would make the United States self-sufficient in energy in 10 years.

But there was apprehension among Secret Service agents aboard the presidential jet. Just 17 days earlier, in Sacramento, just 40 miles east, Lynette Fromme, 26, had aimed a pistol at Ford from a range of two feet, but was subdued by an agent.

She was in jail, as was Patricia Hearst, the fugitive heiress captured last week in San Francisco.

Some of the agents said they expected supporters of Miss Hearst and Miss Fromme to demonstrate near the President. Security measures would be tight.

As Air Force One winged toward the Bay City, Ronald Carlo, 24, walked up to a cashier in the St. Francis Hotel, where Ford was to make two appearances. Police said he handed the cashier a note threatening the life of the President.

Police arrested him outside the hotel at 10:40 a.m. and held him on suspicion of threatening the life of the President.

Seven minutes later, Ford's motorcade entered the presidential parking garage of the Hyatt Hotel, a block from the St. Francis. Aides said the President was told of the threat.

He entered the makeshift television studio on the sixth floor five minutes early, at 2:55 p.m.

Outside the hotel, the presidential limousine, a black bulletproof Lincoln Continental, and other motorcade cars maneuvered into position on Post Street. Police officers lined then.

In the Plaza Square Ballroom of the Hyatt, about 400 AFL-CIO members gave Ford a warm reception as he disclosed details of the energy proposal. The audience especially liked the idea that it would provide many construction jobs.

Secret Servicemen said that, in view of the Carlo arrest, the President should not mingle with the street crowds who always gather to watch the comings and goings of a Chief Executive.

The motorcade sped from the Hyatt garage to the St. Francis in 42 seconds. Ford waved to a small crowd gathered across the street as he walked the few feet to the hotel entrance, but he ignored several protest signs.

Under normal conditions, Ford might have walked the block between the two hotels just 40 miles east. Lynette Fromme, 26, had aimed a pistol at Ford from a range of two feet, but was subdued by an agent.

Outside the hotel, the presidential limousine, a black bulletproof Lincoln Continental, and other motorcade cars maneuvered into position on Post Street. Police officers lined

At 3:25 p.m. Ford and his chief adviser, Donald Rumsfeld, riding down the elevator with agents, discussed how well they thought the TV interview had gone. One of the agents remarked that they were in the last half hour of the three-day California trip and there had been no major incidents.

Ford breezed out into Post Street. In the crowd across the street, 35 to 40 feet away, separated from the President by the limousine and a score of police, was 45-year-old Sarah Jane Moore.

Ford waved both arms over his head and shouted: "Hi, how are you?" The onlookers cheered, except for a few protesters.

About 3:28 p.m. the time was not pinpointed, police said Sarah Jane Moore slowly raised a chrome-plated .38 caliber pistol.

A shot rang out, and the cheers turned to screams.

Ford Plan Seeks Speedup Of Energy Development

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's proposed $100 billion government energy corporation would speed new energy production by taking on the financial risks private enterprise can't or won't take, a key administration official says.

Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb, expanding on Ford's proposal, said in an interview Monday that the proposed corporation would be authorized to invest Treasury funds or borrowed funds, up to $100 billion, in projects to demonstrate the commercial feasibility of new energy resources.

Ford, addressing a meeting of construction union members in San Francisco, announced Monday his intention to seek congressional approval for the establishment of an "Energy Independence Authority."

Ford said, "It is designed to achieve what many regard as impossible — energy independence by 1985," and then go out of business automatically after 10 years of operation.

Zarb said, however, that the proposed authority would make long-term energy investment commitments during its 10 years and the government's actual financial participation in projects would extend much longer than that.

Zarb said the aim would be to bring into reality worthy new energy resources which would not otherwise be developed either because the business risk is too great or because the capital requirements are too large for normal private investment.

He said the government would aim to get back its investments plus interest at prevailing commercial rates, but not to make a profit on its investments.

What the public would get out of its investments, he said, would be the rapid development of new domestic energy sources that would end the nation's dependence on foreign oil, Zarb said.

Ford mentioned, as possible candidates for federal pumping, such costly or experimental energy sources as coal liquification and gasification, shale oil, nuclear power plants, geothermal energy and solar power.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration, fighting a dual battle with Congress over secrecy, is defying congressional subpoenas for documents of U.S. intelligence operations and the Arab boycott against Israel.

House Intelligence Committee Chairman Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., said Monday, "all my indications are" that Ford will not honor over 100 subpoenas from the committee.

Ford cut off both documents and witnesses to the committee two weeks ago after it disclosed that U.S. intelligence monitored Egyptian communications before the 1973 Mideast war.

Similar material also has been subpoenaed from former PSC chairman William Rosenberg, who has resigned to accept a Federal Energy Office post. Testimony of Rosenberg and the other commissioners will be taken in public session before the full committee, the group's chairman, Rep. Howard Wolpe, D-Kalamazoo, said Monday. No hearing date has been set, though the subpoenaed material must be turned in by Oct. 1, Wolpe said. ## It's Tough To Dispose Of 7,000 Old Tires

MUNICH, Mich. (AP) — What do you do with 7,000 old tires, most of which are no good for use on vehicles any more?

"If you're Al Sterling, you do everything in your power to give them away. That even includes putting up a display in front of the house to feature some of the best tires from his 'collection.'

It also includes erecting a sign listing a variety of uses for the old rubber: "Childrens swings, flower beds . . ."

Sterling "inherited" the mountain of tires three years ago when he moved into his house in this small community 14 miles northeast of Jackson.

The tires were left over from a tire recapping business across the street. The previous owners of Sterling's house apparently let the firm use their backyard.

"It wasn't until this past summer that I really started to worry about the tires," the 65-year-old retiree said. "The mosquitoes out there were terrific, and the wife and I are scared of getting that disease that's going around."

Water from the summer's unusually heavy rains has collected inside the tires, turning Sterling's backyard into a breeding ground for mosquitoes that may carry encephalitis.

"Now that I've retired, I want to have a vegetable garden out there," Sterling said. "But first I've got to find some takers for the tires."

Wife Files

Complaint

LINCOLN, Mich. (AP) — A high school principal faces arraignment for assault and battery Wednesday in District Court after his wife charged he beat her up over the weekend.

Charles Matlock, 35, principal of Alcona High School, also may be disciplined by his school board because of the complaint filed by his wife, Judith.

Matlock has been under fire recently from citizens' groups which called for him to resign and fought proposed increases in millage levies.

American Motors was alone in showing a decline in gas mileage, averaging 18.3 miles per gallon, down 3.5 per cent from 1975 but up 11.6 per cent over 1974.

The new model cars — foreign and domestic — averaged a theoretical 17.6 miles per gallon, compared to 16.6 miles to the gallon last year and 13.9 miles in 1974, the EPA announced. That means gas mileage improved 12.8 per cent from 1975 and 26.6 per cent from two years ago.

Most of the progress, according to EPA Administrator Russell E. Train, resulted from installation of catalytic converters on more models to reduce exhaust pollution.

Ford, which showed the greatest improvement in gas mileage, is installing converters on all 1976 cars, compared to having converters on only 65 per cent of the 1975 cars.

The converters guarantee low emissions, permitting the companies to return car engines for greater fuel economy. GM had catalysts on all 1975 models, while Chrysler and AMC used the devices on some cars.

A Ford spokesman said the use of catalysts improved gas mileage. Smaller engines also were factors in better fuel mileage for the Ford Maverick and Ford Granada, the company said.

Refinements in engineering, new engines and introduction of smaller cars like the Chevette accounted for GM's increase in gas mileage, a spokesman said.

"This is convincing evidence that the free marketplace is working to meet both the nation's goals and the public's personal transportation — more efficiently and more effectively.

DETROIT (AP) — The Big Three automakers say smaller engines, increased use of catalysts and better engineering account for improvements in gas mileage reported by the Environmental Protection Agency for 1976 cars.

The EPA said Monday its tests show General Motors Corp.'s new minicar, the Chevrolet Chevette, gets the best gasoline mileage of any new U.S. model.

At 33 miles per gallon, the Chevette is tied with two Japanese models, the Datsun B-210 and the Subaru, for the most efficient use of fuel.

GM cars averaged 16.6 miles per gallon, up 8 per cent from 1975 and 38 per cent from 1974. Ford Motor Co., which was unhappy with its fuel economy performance last year, averaged 17.3 miles per gallon, up 27.5 per cent from 1975 and 21.8 per cent from 1974.

Chrysler Corp. averaged 18.4 miles per gallon, up 9.5 per cent from 1975 and 19.7 per cent over 1974.

more power — and therefore more fuel — to get a heavier weight moving.

The improvements brought the auto industry more than halfway toward President Ford's target of a 40 per cent increase in gas mileage by 1980.

As usual, the best economy was generally delivered by the smallest cars, reflecting the basic law of physics that it takes more power miles per gallon than the nationwide average, although some California cars did as well as or better than their general sale counterparts.

The EPA reported top mileage of 33 miles per gallon was delivered by the 88-cubic-inch engine Chevrolet Chevette, the 85-cubic-inch Datsun B-210 and the 88-cubic-inch Subaru.

All had manual gearshifts. The tests simulated a combination of city and highway driving.

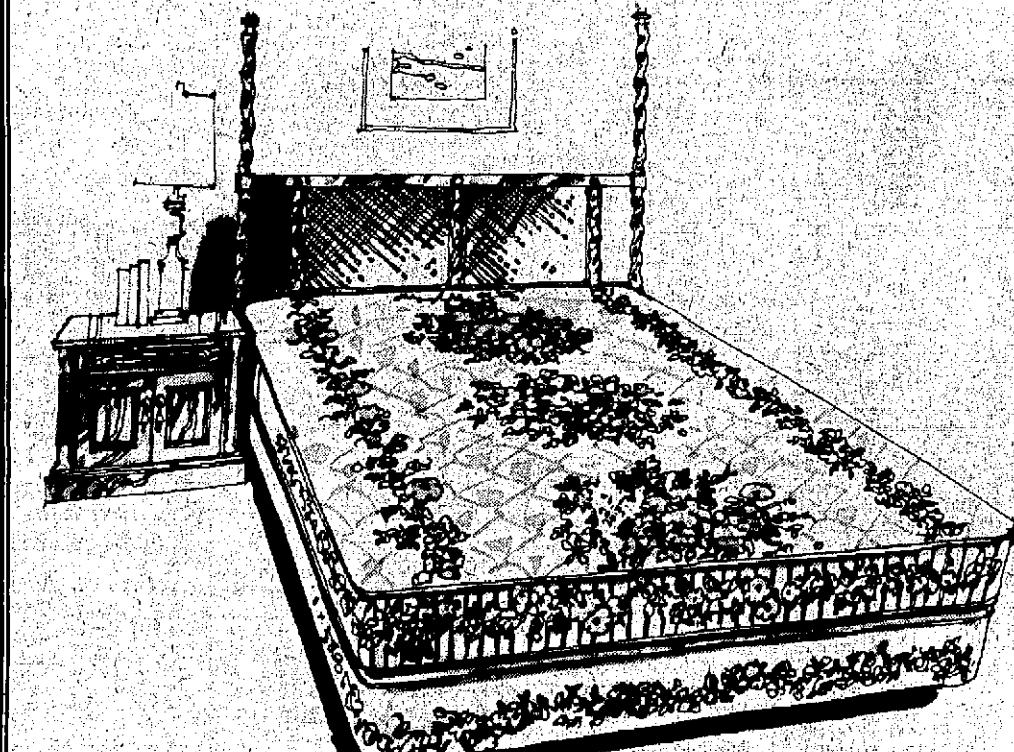

An 86-cubic-inch engine Chevette and the 79-cubic-inch Renault five speed manual shift got 32 miles per gallon, the EPA reported.

Other high-economy models were manufactured by Peugeot, Audi, Austin, Triumph, Volkswagen, Ford and Toyota.

ALL ABOUT
FOODS

"MERCHANDISING"

I don't know how free it is of other fields, but it seems to me that every new idea or development that comes along to help grocers ring up more sales also helps you, the customer.

Take the modern "see-through" wrapping materials, for instance. We grocers like them because they help us display meats, produce and other items of their best. But they also help you see exactly what you're getting. And they help keep those items fresh and moist all the way to your table.

The same is true of the growing trend toward the sale of nutritions, health and beauty aids, and household products in the modern supermarket. Offering these non-food items does help keep the grocer "in the black." But it also helps make shopping more convenient for you by saving you trips to other stores.

Or consider the simple device of promoting related foods together, a merchandising method practiced by many grocers. In an advertisement, for example, you might see pork chops featured with applesauce, or cranberries with poultry, or liver with onions or canned ham with cabbage. The kind of "complimentary" that spares you the disappointment of discovering, after you get home, that it's long on ham and short on pineapple.

Finally, one specific example comes to mind. An enterprising maker of cold remedies realized that children catch more colds than adults, and that they get restless when they're stuck in bed with nothing to do. So he suggested that their remedies display their cold remedies alongside toys, crayons and coloring books. Certainly a good merchandising idea... and a helpful suggestion for mothers, too.

In afterwards, what's good for us is good for you. So shop SCHNECK'S. It will be good for both of us.

Bullet Misses Ford; Police Hold Suspect

mother of a nine-year-old son, to the agency's attention Saturday, two days before the Ford visit. Agents questioned her Sunday.

"As a result of that interview, the Secret Service assessed that she was not of sufficient protective interest to warrant surveillance during the President's visit," the agency said. "Following the interview, a background investigation on Moore was initiated."

The Secret Service would say nothing more.

It is understood that the agency sometimes has local officials keep watch on persons deemed to be threats to a president. That apparently was not done in the Moore case.

According to the FBI, Mrs. Moore admitted that she fired the shot Monday, that she had purchased the seized revolver this date, and she had observed Ford coming out of the St. Francis Hotel, and "was surprised that she had so much time."

Such disclosures are likely to be the ingredients of a congressional investigation that appears virtually certain to look into Secret Service practice and procedure.

Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., said there should be an inquiry because of what he called "evidence of a security breakdown in the Fromme and Moore episodes, and because of agency failure to follow up on tips about Lee Harvey Oswald prior to the assassination of John F. Kennedy in 1963."

The Secret Service has not come under close congressional scrutiny. Its only watchdogs in Congress have been the appropriations panels, that approve its funds.

"I would think it needs a good shaking up over there," Hollings said.

Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., also called for an investigation. Anderson said it was incredible that the Secret Service had questioned and released Mrs. Moore, only to have her shoot at the President.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen, asked whether the White House itself would be looking into Secret Service performance, simply cited the President's advice in the Fromme episode.

He also said there has been no change in Ford's plan to visit the Midwest early next month.

In his first outing after the Fromme episode, Ford wore a protective vest during a tour of southern New Hampshire. Nessen said Ford had not been wearing a bullet proof vest in San Francisco.

A major theme in Congress was the call to Ford to cut down on his crowd appearances. "I just think it's too risky," said Rep. Robert McClosky, R-Ill.

"He has to realize that this is a troubled time," said Rep. Tom Steed, D-Ola. "He doesn't have to prove anything to anybody. Nobody thinks he is a coward."

Sens. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Lloyd M. Bentsen of Texas, two of the eight Democratic presidential candidates, also said the President should cut down his crowd ex-

Fishermen Swim After Boat Sinks

Three South Bend fishermen swam to shore after their boat hit an object and sank in the St. Joseph river south of the Napier avenue bridge Sunday.

In a report made Monday to Berrien sheriff's marine deputies, owner of the 25-foot cabin cruiser, Greg Burnside, said he believes the boat hit a large log about 7:30 p.m. as they were headed upriver.

Burnside, his two passengers, Jeffery Price and Sam Fraser, were not injured, but the boat sank near the east bank of the river with only the cabin top above water, deputies reported.

Office Equipment Is Major Target For Burglars Here

With grand thefts of office equipment on the increase, the Benton Harbor police department's crime prevention unit is urging all businesses to safeguard against such thefts, particularly IBM typewriters.

Det. Lt. Alfred Edwards said there is "a vast market for IBM typewriters in out-of-town areas." Edwards noted that within the past month 23 such typewriters were stolen from Benton Harbor high school and another 13 from the Berrien OIC office in Benton Harbor.

Edwards said two people were taken into custody on the OIC complaint, but police believe more are involved.

Edwards cited precautionary steps:

1. Instruct your personnel to double check to see that all doors and windows are women or college graduates, he added.

"Appointments to the Training School class have obviously been made, and based upon racial or partisan considerations," he said in his suit.

State Police have been particularly vulnerable to attack for discrimination against minorities and women. The department's tests have been found to be biased against blacks and other minorities by state Civil Service officials and the federal government.

Under a plan to hire more minorities and women into state government, the Civil Service Commission decreed in May 1972 and again in November 1973 that more than mere top test scores must be used by personnel officers to determine a person's fitness for a job.

In 1971 and again in November 1973 that more than mere top test scores must be used by personnel officers to determine a person's fitness for a job.

The council will readvertise for bids, and the lone bidder will be asked to resubmit. The well is to be drilled on a one-acre site purchased for $2,000 last April from Charles Pike after results of a test well proved positive.

The council granted the American Legion auxiliary unit 100 permission to sponsor a fire-hydrant painting program in which school children will paint hydrants red, white and blue to mark the nation's bicentennial celebration.

Earl Perry, public works administrator, told the council that officials from Covert high school could use the ball park downtown for football.

Construction is underway at the Covert high school football field, he said.

Meanwhile, the Galesburg-Augusta school district residents approved bonds for a new junior high school and the Pine River District in Wexford County renewed and increased its millage.

Kalamazoo Valley wanted another 1.5 mills for its operations. But voters rejected that request 5,921 to 4,503. It was the first bid for added millage since the school's founding in 1966.

In the Galesburg-Augusta district of Kalamazoo County, voters agreed to issue $2.6 million in bonds for a new junior high. The issue was approved 461 to 271.

Voters in the Pine River District renewed 1.4 mills for operations by 1,018 to 219. A plan to add two mills had more difficulty, but the added millage still was approved, 715 to 551.

The new money will be used to cover costs of athletics and other extracurricular activities. Pine River schools include the communities of Leroy, Tustin and Luther.

Storm Hits Panhandle

City reported bumper-to-bumper traffic on the three main routes out of town. Port St. Joe, a lumber mill town of 4,400 about 30 miles to the east, was reported completely evacuated.

Many residents of the central panhandle went to bed Monday night thinking the storm would strike far to the west of them, in the area near Mobile, Ala., and Pensacola, Fla.

Meanwhile, the Justice Department on Aug. 19 issued Michigan a stern warning that efforts must be spurred to attract more minorities and women into the State Police Department.

An investigation dating back to 1973 turned up a pattern of discrimination in the employment of personnel within the Department of State Police, the Justice Department said.

A letter from Asst. Atty. Gen. J. Stanley Pottinger threatened the possibility of a lawsuit if efforts were not accelerated to get more women and minorities into the State Police Department.

Henderson, a Benton Harbor high school teacher, told the commission the center would provide recreational activities for junior high and high school students.

Commissioner Edmund Eamian reported that City Manager Charles Morrison had told him that a young police officer had made a mistake in not ticketing Mrs. Helen Ford, after a two-car collision Sept. 8 in which police reported that an investigation showed Mrs. Ford ran a red traffic light. Mrs. Ford, executive director of Berrien County Action, is running against Eamian for the Second Ward commission seat in the Nov. 4 election.

Morrison is on vacation and was not present last night.

The commission voted to direct the city manager and the city recreation department to prepare a detailed report on the city's payment of expenses to city staff attending various conventions. The action came after Commissioner Carl Brown questioned a $50 bill to the city to pay expenses for a trip by Recreation department director Chris Davenport to a National Parks and Recreation convention Oct. 29.

Courts have upheld — in fact insisted upon — the practice of states taking extraordinary steps to get minorities into government service when existing civil service exams prove to be racially or culturally biased, Wallack said.

"I think the fact there are only 26 minority group members on a State Police force of 2,004 would belie any charge (by a white male) of racial discrimination," Wallack said.

He said the reference to "rumor" in the minutes is "discrediting to the Coloma city police for doing their job."

Weybright said he was making the report known to the city commission so that

School Is Vandalized

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Massive weekend vandalism, which officials estimated will cost $50,000 to $100,000 to repair, has forced closing of Kendall School of Design for three days. Police said they wanted the school closed to check for fingerprints of the intruders. Officers said the vandalism apparently began as a burglary. Thermostats and telephone lines were torn loose, paint was smeared in halls, eight vending machines were burglarized, food was smeared about the lunchroom, and furniture was slashed in the school president's office.

WEED CONTROL ASSESSMENTS

Paw Paw Lake Tax Hearing Oct. 1

COLOMA — Paw Paw Lake Improvement board will hold a public hearing at the Coloma township hall, Wednesday, Oct. 1, at 7:30 p.m., to review a proposed special assessment roll for a weed control program in Paw Paw lake.

The hearing is being held to explain the proposed assessment to lakefront property owners who are to pay it, according to Robert Jackson, chairman of the board.

Under the proposed roll, property owners would pay 62.5 cents per lined foot of shoreline property for one year if the township board accepts it.

The roll requires township board action before being final. The roll is to be sent to the board for consideration after the hearing.

Income from the assessment would be used to finance a weed killing program aimed at eliminating shoreline growth and visible surface weed growth in the lake.

The Andrews university water quality laboratory would monitor the program and take at least 20 water quality samples annually.

During the hearing, the improvement board will hear all comments and objections to the roll. Jackson asked that objections be given to him in writing prior to the close of the meeting.

The weed control special assessment district includes lakefront property owners in both Coloma and Watervliet townships.

Preparation of the special assessment roll was based on plat maps of each lakefront subdivision.

Whenever waterfront footage was not listed by surveyed distance, said Jackson, map measurements were used to determine waterfront distance.

The improvement board's decision to proceed with the weed control project was made at an Aug. 18 public hearing in which lakefront residents expressed a desire for such a program, said Jackson.

LMC Nursing Grads Do

Better On State Exam

By RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

Twenty-nine of 33 graduates of the Lake Michigan college registered nursing program passed their state examinations this summer, Dr. Walter Browe, LMC executive vice president said Monday.

Browe also said the LMC X-ray training program has been placed on probationary accreditation, mainly because the program does not have a full-time coordinator.

Browe said the 87.7 per cent passing rate for the 33 nursing graduates was a turn-about from a year ago, when the failure rate was reported at 48 per cent. Thus year the LMC failure rate was 12.3 per cent, compared to an 11.5 per cent failure rate state-wide.

The 1975 tests were given the end of July at Cobo hall, Detroit. Browe said the results for LMC were just received by the college. The examinations are given by the Board of Nursing of the Michigan Department of Licensing and Registration.

Since the 1974 examinations, LMC has ended its "open door" admission policy at the nursing program. Students have been screened carefully through counseling.

LMC learned of the probationary status of the X-ray program by telephone Monday night, but Board Vice Chairman Earl Place commented that last year, all eight of the X-ray program graduates passed national examinations. Twenty-four of 25 graduates have passed the examinations since LMC took over the program in 1969.

In another X-ray matter, the board reported that lead shielding is required by law in the X-ray room of the dental assistant training laboratory. The board okayed this, pending a review of cost estimates by the architect. The tentative cost was reported to be $6,850.

The board also:

—Approved the court as the location for an outdoor elevator, expected to cost between $50,000 and $80,000. The elevator for handicapped people will extend to the third floor food service center area.

—Approved a contract with Communicate Company of St. Joseph to service audio visual equipment for $195 per month.

Approved bids from three firms for separate purchases of automotive repair training equipment: Larry Goodrow (Sun Electric), Holland, $4,984; Chet Nichols, Benton Harbor, $2,292; and Pschigoda Tool Co., Bridgeman, $1,237.

—Approved a 44-week contract with Counseling Associates, to be paid $5,800 to operate the Women's Center on the campus.

Robert Lutz, student senate president, reviewed the new student handbook; and the board changed spring vacation from next March 29-April 2, to April 5-9. The change was to bring the vacation in line with the area's K-12 school districts.

A Reminder: Children MUST Be In School

Parents and guardians of all children 6-16 years of age are reminded that Michigan's compulsory school attendance law requires children in that age range to be in school. That reminder has been issued by Raymond M. Srebot, superintendent of the Berrien county intermediate school district.

Srebot also pointed out that this Friday is the "membership count date" for all schools. State aid to public schools is related to the number of students in attendance and students must be enrolled by Friday for schools to receive financial aid for them.

Michigan law also requires that special education services be made available to all handicapped people up to 25 years of age, Srebot noted. He said any school may serve as a referral source for special education services, which sometimes are provided in the home for pre-primary children.

Reply On Juveniles Leaves Unruh Cold

COLOMA — Coloma Police Chief Kenneth Unruh continued his criticism of the juvenile court services arm of the Berrien county probate court last night during a city commission meeting here.

Unruh, commenting on a statement issued by spokesmen for the branch in response to his initial criticism, said "All these (examples) were sure impressive and I'll have to show them to the merchants, to see if they're impressed."

"The merchants can read the statements while 15 to 20 kids, are sitting on cars, standing in front of businesses and preventing people from entering stores."

The juvenile spokesmen had said they were following accepted national recommendations for handling juveniles in the county. Under the recommendations, detention was to be for juveniles posing a threat to themselves or the community. They quoted from publications outlining the recommended methods.

The statement was issued by Charles J. Kehoe, director of the juvenile court services, and Mrs. Margaret Clarke, president of a citizens advisory committee for it, in response to Unruh's initial blast.

Unruh had charged the services and the probate court which oversees it with failing to handle juveniles as they should and failing to uphold enforcement of the laws.

"I'm interested in what's going on in the streets," Unruh told the commission, "not when the juveniles are all dressed up, looking good before the juvenile court, where their hand is slapped — they're given milk and cookies and then let go."

Unruh said he was disappointed that he has not received backing from other police agencies confronted with the same problems.

William Weybright, city commissioner and chairman of the commission's police committee, commended the chief for his comments and added "on any future incidents with juveniles, I and other members of the police committee are going to follow along with the officer to see what really happens in St. Joseph."

In other areas, Commissioner Fred Munchow, head of the public works committee, said Clements' court would be enlarged at East Logan street, to provide easier access to Postelli Steelfab Inc.

Munchow said the plan was developed after the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad objected to extending Sassafras street to the firm because it would create another railroad crossing.

Ex-Twin Cities Resident Dies In Berrien Smashup

By TOM SAWYER
Staff Writer

A West Branch, Mich., man, formerly of the Twin Cities, died Monday night when his car collided with a semi-truck on M-140 at North Branch road, Bainbridge township, south of Watervliet. Officers believe Green's auto swerved into truck's lane. Because of heart trouble history, police are investigating possibility Green may have suffered heart attack. (Cliff Stevens photo)

LT. Dave Tiefenbach said it appeared Green's northbound car swerved into the southbound lane, colliding with the truck. Tiefenbach said it was learned Green had a history of heart trouble.

An autopsy was to be performed today to determine if Green died of crash injuries or had sustained a heart attack, Tiefenbach said.

If the death is found to have been caused by the crash, it would be the 38th on Berrien county highways so far in 1975, compared to 21 at this time last year. Thirty-four people were killed in traffic accidents in all of 1974 in Berrien county.

Tiefenbach said Green's car apparently forced the truck off the road as it glanced off the cab portion of the truck, then smashed into the rear side, knocking a set of dual wheels off the truck.

Mr. Green was born Oct. 13, 1926, in Benton Harbor and before moving to northern

Bangor Students Not Hurt In Bus Rollover

BANGOR — Thirty-six school children escaped injury yesterday when a Bangor school bus rolled over on 59½ street south of CR-380, Geneva township, according to state police from the South Haven post.

Driver Robert Hewitt, Jr., 22, 405 Division street, Bangor, told troopers he was northbound on 59½ street when he apparently drove too close to the edge of the road causing the bus to roll on its side.

The children were transferred to another bus following the 3 p.m. accident, according to school officials.

Michigan had been employed at Whirlpool Corporation.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Florence Green, Houghton and two brothers, Irving, San Diego, Calif., and Rev. Gerald Green, West Concord, Minn., and two sisters, Mrs. David (Sharon) Patter, Dunsville, Mich., and Mrs. James (Ardys) Lombardo, Sodus.

Mr. Green was a veteran of World War II.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete today at the Fairplain chapel, Florin funeral home.

An Illinois man involved in a car-motorcycle crash last May in which a Union Pier woman was killed was ordered to pay $350 fine and costs yesterday in Berrien Circuit court. Sentenced by Judge Julian Hughes for a no contest plea to a charge of negligent homicide was William George Mathieu, 55, of Steger, Ill. Mathieu was the driver of a car which collided with a motorcycle May 4 on Red Arrow highway at Lake street in Bridgeman, killing a passenger on the motorcycle, Valerie Lynn Gober, 24.

"There was no recklessness or drinking involved in the accident," Hughes noted, and added Mathieu has only received one minor traffic ticket during his years of driving. "I don't feel probation would serve any purpose," Hughes said in levying fine and costs.

Mathieu was attempting to make a left turn onto Lake street from Red Arrow when the motorcycle, on Red Arrow, hit the side of the Mathieu car. The motorcycle was driven by Danny Ketchersid, of Michigan City.

Ozark Didn't Know Pirates Were NL Division Champs

From Associated Press
Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark may not have been the only man in Three Rivers Stadium that didn't know his team was eliminated from the National League East race but he was the only one who admitted it.

"We aren't out of it if we win every game and they lose every game," insisted Ozark after Pittsburgh walloped the Phils

11-3. Told that his team was seven games back with just six to play, Ozark said, "That's news to me ... it's disheartening."

If Ozark wanted more confirmation he could have dropped by the Pirate clubhouse where the champagne was flowing and congratulations being exchanged all around.

"This is a great way to win a championship, beating the team that has been chasing you," said Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh who knows a division title when he wins one.

"We're used to winning," said outfielder Dave Parker. "Even when we went bad this year, the Phillips didn't gain any ground on us and we just felt 'Hey, it's meant for us.'"

"I haven't been on a championship team since I was 14," added reliever Kent Tekulve. "We won the Babe Ruth League or something."

It was the fifth division crown in the last six years for the Bucs. The Bucs brought out the big bats Monday night to end Phillips' hopes of a miracle comeback. Pittsburgh built a 6-3 lead over the first seven innings, then wrapped it up with five runs in the eighth.

Dave Parker and Richie Zisk drove in four runs each, Parker with two singles and his 23rd home run and Zisk with two singles and a double. Ozark tried to stem the tide with seven pitchers and the first one, Tom Underwood, 14-13, took the loss.

Bruce Kison, 12-11, and Tekulve teamed for a seven-inning, two-run shutout for Pittsburgh.

Next stop for the Bucs will be the NL pennant series against the Reds, who clinched the West Division weeks ago.

Elsewhere in the NL, Houston beat Cincinnati 5-1, San Diego edged Los Angeles 6-5 in 11 innings and St. Louis and Montreal split a double header, the Cardinals winning the first game 6-4 in 12 innings and the Expos taking the second one 8-5.

Joe Nickro, 8-4, and Paul Siebert limited Cincinnati to four hits and Cesar Cedeno and Cliff Johnson hit home runs for Houston. Cedeno smacked a three-run homer, his 13th of the season, in the first and Johnson added a two-run shot in the seventh, his 17th. Jack

Hector Torres led off the 11th inning with a home run to give San Diego the victory, snapping the Padres' six-game losing streak. San Diego tied it in the ninth on a two-out wild pitch by knuckleballer Charlie Hough.

Ted Simmons won the opener for St. Louis with a two-run homer in the 12th inning, snapping a five-game Montreal winning streak. The Cards tied it in the ninth on an error by Montréal first baseman Nate Colbert.

The Expos came back in the nightcap on the strength of Jim Lytle's two-run pinch single in the sixth.

Still No Peace In NFL

Contract Proposal Relaxes Rozelle Rule

CHICAGO (AP) — A new contract proposal that relaxes the controversial Rozelle Rule and could cost the 26 club owners an estimated $30 million in new money over five years still has not brought about a National Football League labor peace.

The NFL Management Council, representing the owners, made its latest proposal to the players union Monday, but day-long negotiations apparently have failed to resolve the wide differences between the two sides that have been prevalent in talks over the past 20 months.

Negotiations under the supervision of federal mediators continued today.

After the prolonged sessions, Sargent Karch, council executive director, said management had responded to a challenge by union president Kermit Alexander to make a final offer and give it's "best shot."

"We have today given our best shot," Karch told newsmen. "Like other unions, they would like to get the moon, everything they demand. They don't believe we have given them everything we can give.

THE WORLD OF Sports

We hope they will accept the package."

Alexander and other union leaders and player representatives present at the meeting declined to comment specifically on the owners' last proposal, going from the joint session with management into a union meeting that lasted late into the night.

W.J. Usery Jr., chief federal mediator who has been conducting the current negotiations, appeared frustrated by the apparent impasse but would only say, "We know it's going to be hard, difficult. We're going to work at it. We're not satisfied until we get an agreement."

The management council's latest offer came as a result of an agreement reached last Thursday which ended a strike by five clubs and permitted the playing of the opening weekend of the 1975 NFL season.

Under the terms of the agreement, negotiations could continue for two more days and then the management proposal, with any changes agreed upon, is to go to the rank and file players for a vote, with the results being made known by Oct. 2.

The last collective bargaining agreement expired Jan. 31, 1974. Since that expiration, the league has been hit by two player strikes, one of which was for 42 days during the 1974 preseason.

Chief among the roadblocks to reaching a contract agreement has been the Rozelle Rule, which empowers the commissioner to make the compensation when a player joins a second team after his option year and the two clubs cannot agree on his worth.

Under the offer, no player with four years experience would be forced to change teams. The proposal also says any player with four or more years experience who signs a contract of three or more years may become a free agent at the end of that contract without having an option year.

Other points in the proposal would set minimum salaries of $18,000 for veterans with increases to $21,000 in four years, establish a maximum $31,500 for the Super Bowl champion players and considerably increase medical, life insurance and pension benefits.

Johnson Is Worthy Of Last Evaluation

From Associated Press
In his first regular-season game with Boston this year, Deron Johnson proved worthy of the Red Sox' evaluation. The second one, not the first one.

The Red Sox' first assessment of Johnson in October, 1974, sent the 37-year-old veteran packing. He wound up in Chicago. But on Sunday, after they lost superstar rookie Jim Rice for the rest of the season with a broken hand, the Red Sox welcomed Johnson back.

"I was shocked," said Johnson, who was traded from the White Sox to the Red Sox. "I didn't think I would go somewhere this late in the season."

Johnson's three hits equalled his entire output with the Red Sox in the final three weeks of last season after Boston had purchased him from Milwaukee.

Elsewhere in the AL, Oakland failed for another day to clinch its fifth straight Western Division crown, losing to Minnesota 2-1 while second-place Kansas City nipped Texas 2-1; Cleveland edged Milwaukee 7-6, and California outlasted the Chicago White Sox 3-0 in 16 innings.

Minnesota left-hander Eddie Bane delayed Oakland's division clinching celebration, scattering seven hits before needing ninth-inning relief help from Bill Campbell and Tom Tamm.

But Johnson had regained his composure by the time he slipped on a Boston uniform once again. He led his new-old teammates to a 6-4 victory Monday night over the New York Yankees, another one of his old clubs, with three hits, one RBI and one run scored.

The victory widened the Red Sox' lead over idle Baltimore in the American League East to four games and reduced the Red Sox' pennant-clinching number to four. Any combination of Boston victories and Baltimore losses totaling four will insure the Red Sox of their first division title since 1967. Boston has six games remaining and Baltimore has eight left.

Norton Eyes Ali-Frazier Winner

'Fight Of Lifetime' Momentum Builds In Manila

MANILA (AP) — Muhammad Ali is fit and sassy, Joe Frazier is keen and mean, and tough Ken Norton is waiting in the wings for the survivor of next week's ballyhooed heavyweight "fight of the century."

"I think I deserve the shot and will get it," said the tall, hard-hitting Norton, who broke Ali's jaw and who is the only man besides Frazier to hold a decision over the reigning heavyweight king.

Norton arrived almost simultaneously with some 30 fight writers from the United States, providing momentum to the so-

Frazier, who took the day off from hard training, responded by inviting newsmen to a news conference and a post-siesta cocktail party in the tower of his Manila hotel.

Attired in a white, hand-tie jump suit, the one-time Philadelphia butcher let it be known that he was upset by some of Ali's pranks, which included clicking an empty gun at him during a Sunday workout.

"That's funny — he's very scared," Ali said. "It was only a cap pistol. Sonny Liston pulled the trick on me in 1965 when I fought Floyd Patterson at Las Vegas. I thought it would be fun to do the trick here."

Frazier eats bacon and eggs for breakfast. You can't beat me and eat pork. God hates pork."

"I couldn't sleep at night for thinking about it," he said. "I know what guns can do. It caused me a lot of confusion."

Some of Frazier's camp people said they thought it was a gun which apparently had been borrowed from one of Ali's security guards. But Ali laughed uproariously when told of Frazier's charge later.

Deer Hunting Format for '75

During Michigan's 1975 deer hunting season Nov. 15-30, there will be, in effect, three different antlerless hunting periods. The collective take of antlerless deer in all areas is expected to be 11,365 with bucks-only hunting in the Upper Peninsula. Of 81,910 permits to be issued, the Department of Natural Resources predicts 2,390 hunters will go after antlerless deer in the various management areas. Hunters are reminded that midnight Oct. 1, is the deadline to postmark applications for permits to hunt antlerless deer in these areas. Sportsmen will receive application forms at local license dealers when they buy their 1975 firearm deer license. Instructions for filling out these forms are also available at local license dealers.

Weekend fishing activity centered on the St. Joseph River between the mouth and the Berrien Springs dam. High winds hampered efforts out on Lake Michigan.

Coho salmon became a big part of the catch for the first time last week, with the first surge of the spawning fish reaching the Berrien dam last Wednesday.

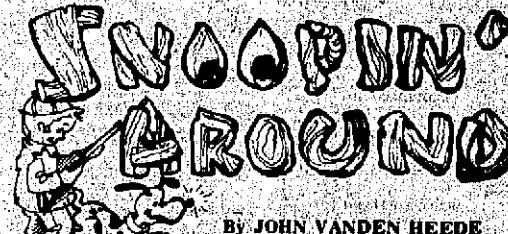

Checks by Alvin Aldridge, the ranger at Shamrock Park in Berrien Springs, showed that 200 fisherman Saturday took 35 chinook, 20 steelhead, 16 browns and 4 northerns. On Sunday, 200 anglers caught 40 chinook, 28 coho, 31 steelhead, 17 browns and 2 northerns.

River fishing is expected to spread up stream next week to Buchanan when the fish ladder on the Berrien dam is put into operation.

While snagging is a main activity at the dam, there also has been a lot of trolling for salmon and steelhead in the lower St. Joseph River. Top lures have included the tadpole, flattail and Little Cleo.

Chinook salmon are also concentrating below the Allegan dam on the Kalamazoo River.

By JOHN VANDEN HEDE

Hunter orange may soon dot Michigan's woods. A bill (HB 5388) has been introduced by Rusty Hellman of Houghton county which would require most sportsperson to wear at least 500 square inches of hunter orange (fluorescent orange) while afield in Michigan.

It's a proven safety measure. No color in nature matches hunter orange, and there's no doubt that shooters wearing the bright clothing are easily seen.

Several states now require hunter orange, and initial results show a major reduction in shooting accidents. Massachusetts has had the law since 1967, and it reports a 67 per cent reduction in mishaps among hunters, caught in the line of fire or mistaken for game.

But because hunter orange is so vivid, many sportsmen oppose it. Some feel that wildlife will also be able to spot them more easily.

Biologists counter with the theory that deer are believed to be color blind. And James R. Walker of the Department of Natural Resources law enforcement division in Lansing has conducted tests which he believes proves that wildlife aren't wary of hunter orange.

"I've used it in the woods and found deer will walk right up to me when I'm wearing a complete jacket and hat," declares Walker. "I've had any number of deer between 25 and 30 feet. And the same thing is true for squirrels. I've had squirrels run right over my feet."

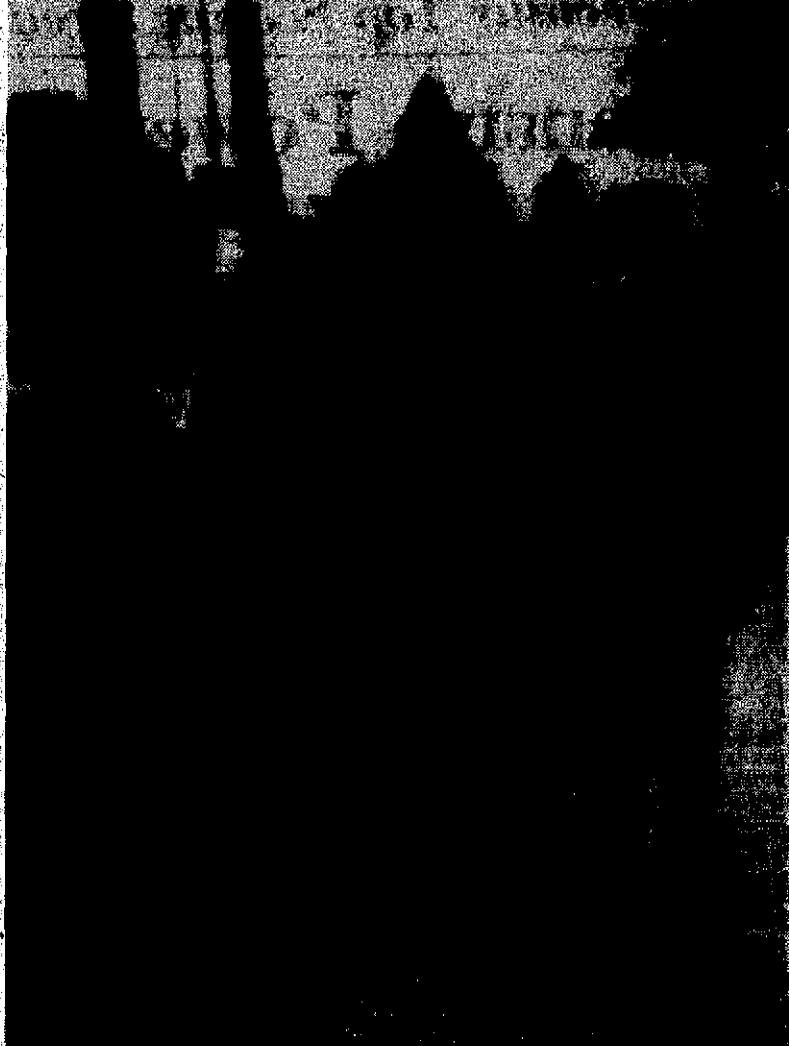

Turkey, waterfowl and crow hunters will be happy to know that the bill does not require them to wear orange.

There's also the objection of the additional expense involved in obtaining hunting orange, but Walker feels its a small price to pay when considering it is a proven saver of life.

Walker has also found the material to be quite durable and fade resistant. He has worn it the last four years while riding a bicycle to and from work (about 800 miles per year).

Hunter orange can be worn in many ways — jacket, vest, hat, bands or even patches. And it doesn't take that much to get 500 square inches. Walker has found a hat and a back sack (used to carry his lunch to work) meet the proposed requirement.

The bill has the backing of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and the National Rifle Association, but it still faces tough going in the legislature. A similar measure was turned down a year ago.

MUZZLE BEAR: Ken Ledyard (right) of Stevensville bagged this 400-pound bear with a muzzle loader while hunting in Upper Peninsula recently, with Dr. Charles Baggerly of Stevensville (left). It was Ledyard's first bear, but Baggerly has hunted bear for 10 years and shot three with a bow and arrow.

St. Joe Snagging Ends Nov. 15

The closing date for liberalized salmon fishing season on seven southern Michigan streams was changed from Dec. 31 to Nov. 15 by the Natural Resources Commission.

Affected streams are the Grand, Thornapple, Flat,

Maple, Kalamazoo and St.

Joseph rivers and Fish Creek in Ionia County. The Commission says the change was made to provide extra protection to early mid-November runs of steelhead and brown trout.

Liberalized salmon fishing was authorized by the Commission on 15 Michigan streams in August, with most seasons beginning September 1. The closing date of October 31 is still in effect for the Sable, Manistique, Big Manistee, Pere Marquette and Muskegon rivers, Manistee Lake and Muskegon Lake and channel.

Closing date for the Cass and Huron rivers remains at Dec. 31.

Effective Oct. 1, anglers fishing on any of Michigan's streams will be restricted on hook size (not to exceed  $\frac{1}{4}$  inch), also notes the DNR.

Whirlpool Meeting Slated

Deer, duck and fishing experts will be guest speakers at the Tuesday, Sept. 20, meeting of the Whirlpool Sportsmen's Club at 7:15 p.m. at the St. Joseph Holiday Inn.

Department of Natural Resources deer specialist Dave Arnold will talk on this season's whitetail hunting, while district DNR wildlife biologist Tom Nederveld gives a program on duck identification.

Charter boat captain Bernie Halverson of Muskegon will also be on hand to discuss salmon and steelhead fishing.

Property Owners Ask Coloma Board To Erect Fencing

COLOMA — Coloma school board last night took under advisement a petition requesting that steel fencing be erected around the senior and junior high grounds abutting adjacent residences.

The petition, signed by 16 adjacent property owners and tenants cited the theft of personal property, entering of their buildings, damaging of buildings, trash thrown on the property and the danger of fire from students smoking on their land as reasons for seeking the fencing.

A resident, Joe Riccioni, told the board that students are smoking on his property morning, noon and at night.

Board Member Richard Eastman said, because of the tightness of the budget, the board would take the petition under advisement and learn the costs of erecting the fencing.

The board approved placing a trash barrel near the northeast corner of the property to help alleviate the refuse problem.

In other areas, the board gave verbal approval to Supt. William Barrett to borrow money on anticipated state aid payments expected to be received in December in order to operate the school.

Barrett is to seek bids for borrowing up to $250,000 with only the amount needed to be borrowed and paid back as soon as state aid payments are received.

Barrett said the Oct. 6 millage vote for 1.26 mills is "very critical for the future of the school system" and reminded board members that they would have to take under study advisement the cuts suggested in operating the school, including the areas of athletics, busing and band, if the issue is defeated.

Barrett told the board that people attempting to reopen the transfer of the Eman school district, also known as Hagar district Six, to the Benton Harbor school district have requested in their lawsuit on the issue that the governor, attorney general, the state boundary commission and the intermediate school district also be included as defendants with Coloma schools.

Raymond Norberg, director of music education for the school system, recommended the board, consider purchasing 10 high school band uniforms, at a cost of $200 each, when monies become available.

According to Norberg, 108 students are enrolled in the high school band with only 100 uniforms available.

Norberg's recommendation was taken under advisement.

The board approved purchasing a reconditioned riding lawn mower from Michiana Turf Products, of Eau Claire for $800.

Opposition For Two In Dowagiac

DOWAGIAC — Two of three Dowagiac city council incumbents will face opposition in the city election Nov. 4.

The three incumbents were among six council candidates filing petitions by yesterday's 5 p.m. deadline, according to City Clerk Albert First.

First, competing his 10th year as city clerk, has no formal opposition in the non-partisan election.

Terms of the mayor and the other three city councilmen do not expire this year.

In the first ward, incumbent Councilman Robert Hess faces a challenge from Carl Turner, while Second Ward Councilman Maurice Oppenheimer is unopposed.

In the third ward, Councilman Muriel Reeter faces challenges from Albert Diamond and Clarence Solf.

Council terms are for four years.

First said Robert Mortimore is unopposed for election as first ward constable while third ward Constable Joseph Bercini faces a challenge from Reuben Miller.

In the fifth ward, Councilman Muriel Reeter faces challenges from Albert Diamond and Clarence Solf.

Council terms are for four years.

First said Robert Mortimore is unopposed for election as first ward constable while third ward Constable Joseph Bercini faces a challenge from Reuben Miller.

At the same time, commissioners said Mrs. James Davis, administrator of Paw Paw hospital in Niles, has asked commission representatives to attend a Sept. 29 luncheon meeting at the hospital to discuss an emergency ambulance service for Buchanan, Buchanan township and surrounding communities.

Gold Crown is also discontinuing its emergency service for Niles city and township and Howard township, in Cass county.

In formal action, the commission voted to process its tax roll billing through the Berrien county data processing at 42 cents per parcel per year; accepted the low, $25,070 bid of Resco-Elkart construction for repair of the Charles Court bridge deck; and tabled for study bids submitted for trimming and treating the city's 2,882 trees.

The commission also amended and approved an ordinance permitting off-street parking construction if the construction is approved first by the commission and the code enforcement officer.

Junior Achievement representatives were told to draw up and submit plans for easing drainage problems on their property on Bluff street.

COLOMA TOWNSHIP

Townhouse Rezoning Okayed Tentatively

COLOMA — Members of the Coloma township board met informally yesterday morning with the developer of a proposed $1.2 million townhouse development to give tentative approval to proposed rezoning of the development site.

Board member John Ferris, Treasurer Robert Palmer and Clerk Ewald Eckblom told Terrence "Ted" Drumm they favored rezoning the former Strong's resort from commercial to multi-family.

The 4.4 acre site, located off Paw Paw Lake road, was recommended for rezoning by the Coloma township planning commission Sept. 3, but action by the Berrien county planning commission and township board is required before it is final.

Board members told Drumm official action would come Oct. 6. Drumm's proposal calls for constructing nine two-story buildings, containing 34 two-bedroom units and six three-bedroom units.

According to Drumm, following official board action next month, the first unit of the planned 15-unit townhouse development would start within 60 days.

Home Improvement Loan Guidelines For Buchanan

BUCHANAN — Guidelines determining what homeowners qualify for a federal grant to improve their houses were adopted by the Buchanan city commission last night.

Generally, according to City Manager Robert Fauthauer, people with assets above $10,000 will be unable to obtain a home-improvement grant.

The commission obtained and will administer a $116,000 Community Development grant to be used towards upgrading private housing in the city.

The grants, the city manager said, will be in two forms. One, a direct grant to pay for cost of work to renovate homes, and a second type, a grant to reduce the principal amount of a private conventional loan.

In determining an applicant's assets, Fauthauer said, the house occupied by the applicant, personal effects, household furnishings and a private auto will not be counted.

If an applicant who receives a grant is found to have assets above $10,000, he said, the grant becomes a lien against the applicant's property until repaid at 12 per cent interest per annum.

Persons who successfully qualify for the grants for home improvements do not have to pay the grants back.

In a related matter, the commission voted to ask for an extension of Community Development funds to finance a rewriting of the city's 1963 master plan.

In other areas, the commission read and filed

Debt Levy Cut 1.2 Mills In River Valley District

THREE OAKS — The River Valley school board last night reduced the district's property tax levy for debt retirement by 1.20 mills.

The debt retirement rate was 2,236 mills for the 1974-75 school year.

The reduction was made possible by a reimbursement from the state of $44,181 which can be used only for debt retirement. The district applied for the reimbursement last spring.

The district's total levy for last year, which included the debt retirement rate, was 24.237 mills.

In other action, the board recommended as a directive for next year's budget preparation the replacement of possibly five 1968 school buses.

According to a report by John Payne, transportation and maintenance supervisor, all of these buses will be going over the 100,000-mile mark.

The board also approved repairs of approximately $600 for the school bus which is used to transport kindergarteners.

Weldon Burden, school board president, warned that the district may have to increase the price of cafeteria lunches soon as funds for the hot lunch program are becoming depleted.

Gus Carlson, representing the Reith-Riley construction company of Laporte, Ind., was present to tell the board that the settling of the blacktopping at the north end of the high school's newly installed tennis courts will be repaired and the company will guarantee the work even if it takes repeated repair jobs.

Carlson said the courts, which were constructed last summer, have already been repaired three times.

The tennis courts were paid for by the Townships of Chikaming and Three Oaks, the Village of Three Oaks, and donations from citizens and civic groups.

The establishment of tuition rates for out-of-district students was tabled until the cost of the education program is determined. An audit report with this information is expected to be presented at the next meeting.

The tuition rate for the 1974-75 school year was $179.52.

Permission was given to Dr. John Dooley, assistant superintendent, to budget funds to continue the employment of seven people under the federal comprehensive employment training act (CETA) program from March to June, 1976.

CETA program funding is due to expire in March, Dooley noted.

Jay Medek, assistant principal at the Three Oaks campus, recommended that the cost of food for some 30 teachers and counselors at this fall's outdoor education camp for middle school students be paid from the general fund.

The cost of approximately $400 was approved. Students on the week-long outing pay a fixed fee.

Judge Lists Questions He Wants Answered

By STEPHEN M. BROWN

Associated Press Writer

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (AP) — "What is, or should be, the legal definition of death?" is one of the questions a superior court judge says must be answered by attorneys arguing whether medical devices keeping Karen Ann Quinlan alive should be disconnected.

A suit filed by Joseph T. Quinlan, who is seeking permission to allow his 21-year-old adopted daughter to die, will go to trial Oct. 20. The woman has been in a coma for five months and doctors say there is no hope for recovery.

Empty House, Car Burn In Benton

Benton township firemen estimated $5,000 in damage was inflicted on a vacant house at 1200 East Main street Monday when fire of undetermined origin broke out.

Firemen said owner of the house has not been determined as of this morning. The blaze was reported at 2:15 p.m.

In another alarm, firemen said the driver of a station wagon extinguished a blaze in the engine by using rags. The owner was identified as Joseph Delrance, 380 Walnut avenue. The station wagon was on Crystal avenue near Territorial road when fire broke out about 1:30 p.m.

Quinlan is seeking court permission to order "discontinuance of mechanical (cardio-respiratory) supportive measures allegedly sustaining her body functions and her life," according to the pre-trial order signed by Muir.

Miss Quinlan has been in a coma since April 15 and doctors say it was probably caused by an overdose of drugs and alcohol.

Quinlan, 50, filed suit Sept. 21 in Chancery Division to have himself named guardian of his adult daughter on the grounds that she is incompetent, specifically so that he can have a respirator disconnected from Karen.

The Quinlans, who have two natural children, said the decision to file the suit was the result of many hours of reflection. They said they consulted two Roman Catholic priests who agreed the relief they are seeking is "God's will."

Doctors have said Miss Quinlan would die "within minutes" if the respirator were disconnected, and that she already has irreparable brain damage with no hope of recovery, according to the suit.

Hartford Ratifies Teacher Contract

HARTFORD — Hartford school board last night ratified a tentative agreement on a 1975-76 master teaching contract following a 2½-hour executive session, according to Supt. Gary Waterkamp.

Waterkamp said the tentative agreement reached by negotiating committees for the board and Hartford Education association, will now be presented to the HEA membership for ratification.

He said he was not at liberty to discuss details of the agreement until it is formally ratified by the HEA. Hartford is one of six school districts in southwestern Michigan which have not formally ratified contracts for the 1975-76 school year.

In other areas, the board decided to appoint a committee to study a request from the senior class to hold a class trip to Cedar Point, near Sandusky, Ohio, this spring. The request was made by Janet Unrath, senior class president, who said the trip would be for three days and two nights, with all expenses paid by the senior class. Board policy currently does not allow class trips.

Gobles Teachers Get One-Year Contract

GOBLES — The Gobles school board last night approved a one-year contract with district teachers, making it retroactive to Sept. 2.

The contract provides for base pay boosts starting around 6 per cent for beginning teachers and decreasing to 2.3 per cent for teachers with the most experience.

The base boosts will be in addition to increases for an additional year's service, known as "annual increments."

Also under the contract, the board will pay five per cent of a teachers' pay towards teacher retirement.

Last year, teachers with BA degrees earned from $8,400 to $12,440. The coming year's scale is $8,350 to $13,240, school officials said.

For teachers with master's degrees, last year's scale was

'Breath' Drive Starts Tonight

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Berrien Springs chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis foundation will hold a door-to-door fund raising drive tonight starting at 7:30 p.m., according to Mrs. Betty Sundin, drive chairman. The local "Breath of Life Campaign" will be one of over 400 held in Michigan communities this month, to help raise funds to fight children's lung disease.

BH Family Flees Fire Through Window

A Benton Harbor couple received minor cuts when they and their twin sons were forced to flee a fire in their home Monday night through a bedroom window, city firemen reported. The five-month-old boys were unharmed.

Firemen said James Moore, 1274 Ordern avenue, was treated for a cut leg at Mercy hospital, and his wife, Beverly, sought her own treatment for cut hands.

Moore told firemen he was starting a fire in the fireplace shortly before 10:30 p.m. when the can of fuel he was using caught fire. He said he threw it into the kitchen. Firemen said a broken front door knob and the fire near the back door prevented those exits.

Fire damage was reported extensive in the kitchen and firemen said the rest of the home sustained smoke and heat damage. Total damage was estimated at about $6,000.

Watervliet Delays Girls Sports, Golf

WATERVLIET — No action was taken by the Watervliet school board last night on adding golf or girls' sports to the school's athletic program.

The board voted just to receive a report from Supt. Samuel Gravitt and Athletic Director Jerry Barchett recommending waiting until next year before starting a girls' varsity golf team next year.

Gravitt said it was too late this year to add golf as requested by some 20 students because of problems of scheduling matches with other schools, the lack of a coach and salary, and transportation for a team to matches and golf courses.

He added that board should also consider the costs and

Hartford Officer Back On Duty At Lower Rank

HARTFORD — James Padgett, a Hartford police sergeant suspended after the accidental shooting of a city hall employee has been reinstated at reduced rank.

The announcement was made last night at the city council meeting by Police Chief Lee Spencer. Dean Huddleston, councilman and police committee chairman, said Padgett was reduced to patrolman rank on recommendation of the committee.

Padgett will assume his duties as a city patrolman at 4 p.m. today, according to Chief Spencer.

Padgett pleaded guilty in Van Buren Seventh district court to a charge of careless use of a firearm and was sentenced Sept. 15, to fine and costs of $75 as a result of the shooting. The employee, a general city hall secretary, was wounded and was hospitalized for several days.

The accidental shooting occurred Monday, Sept. 8, as Padgett was taking a .38-caliber snub-nosed revolver from a desk drawer.

In other business, the council accepted the low bid of $14,620 from Peters Construction company, Kalamazoo, to complete a portion of the work on the Paras Hill subdivision storm sewer drain project.

Padgett has been hired to dig the trench and lay the necessary pipe, according to Mrs. Jewel Story, city clerk. The remainder of the work on the storm sewer will be done by city employees. Originally, a low bid of $48,972 for the entire project was submitted by George Miller and Sons, Inc. St. Joseph. However, the council felt it couldn't come up with nearly $47,000 at this time, and asked all companies to resubmit bids for a portion of the work required, Mrs. Story said.

The council granted permission last night to American Consolidated Properties of Kalamazoo to erect an 8 by 8 foot building within the fenced area of the city's water tower. The building will be used to house the firm's cable television transmitter. Under terms of the contract, the firm will lease the land from the city at a cost of $20 per month for 15 years. The firm is in the process of establishing a cable television system for the city.

The council approved a contract with Reed Electronics, Benton Harbor, to maintain and service the city's police radios for $40 a month.

The council also voted not to allow trick-or-treating in the city this Halloween. Instead the city's fire department will again sponsor a party for all children.

Council also granted permits to Economy Service, Mattawan, and J and B, Bangor, to operate as garbage collection agencies within the village. Rates currently in effect under a previous temporary permit granted to J and B will remain unchanged.

Council approved a building permit for a Chicken Coop restaurant franchise which will be constructed on South Kalamazoo street at Armey road. Harry Bush, village public works superintendent, said the 30 by 50 foot building is expected to cost $40,000.

Undersheriff David Merwin said Harris was believed to be squirrel hunting with a companion when the accident occurred at 8:45 p.m. The investigation is continuing, he said.

Wounded

MARCELLUS — The Cass county sheriff's department is investigating a hunting accident which occurred yesterday in Marcellus township in which a 16-year-old boy was shot in the leg with a .22 caliber hunting rifle.

Listed in fair condition this morning at Bronson Methodist hospital in Kalamazoo, is Charles Harris Jr., Box 297, 27½ Street, Marcellus.

Undersheriff David Merwin said Harris was believed to be squirrel hunting with a companion when the accident occurred at 8:45 p.m. The investigation is continuing, he said.

Council also gave permission to Bush to lower the level of Maple lake during the period of Sept. 27 to Oct. 13 to make repairs on the dam at the east edge of the village limits.

ARRESTED: This is Sarah Moore, 45, during an interview for the Berkeley Barb in June of 1973. She was taken into custody in San Francisco, Calif., Monday after a shot was fired in the direction of President Ford. The President was not injured. (AP Wirephoto)

Oldsters Need More Housing' At South Haven

SOUTH HAVEN — The need for additional public housing for the elderly in the South Haven area was expressed by the housing commission during its regular monthly meeting last night.

The expression will be carried to the city council by Alderman Robert Warren, the council's representative to the housing commission, in hopes the city council will encourage pursuing additional opportunities for housing.

Warren objected, saying such requests from the mayor and other aldermen should come from him.

Voting in favor of the motion specifying the channel of communication were Warren, Gilbert Jillson, Paul Frazier, and Herman Friedman. Renner was opposed, saying the inquiry from the mayor had been on an informal basis and wasn't intended to circumvent Warren.

The commission authorized purchasing a lot in the 400 block of Cartwright street for a sum not to exceed $750. The property is needed as part of a program underway to improve drainage in the area.

The commission accepted its audit of the past two fiscal years, noting that reserves during the period had increased from $14,210 to $27,013.

DeVinney was authorized to enter into a work project agreement with the Van Buren department of social services whereby unemployed workers could be assigned to the housing commission to assist in maintenance activities.

The vote followed criticism by hook-ups would be $20. Monthly cost of the service would be $6 for television set and $1 more for each additional set.

In other business, the council accepted the low bid of $6,645 from Don Nichol Equipment company, Grand Rapids, for a sewer lift station in the village and the low bid of $745 from Ingric company of Stevensville, for electrical work for the lift station.

The council also hired William Smith of Decatur, as a street department employee under the federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act program to replace Tony Tuka who resigned. Smith's hourly wage will be $2.75 per hour.

TV's Ted Baxter, Georgette Franklin To Wed

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System and MTM Enterprises are pleased to announce the wedding of Miss Georgette Franklin and Mr. Ted Baxter, at the home of Miss Mary Richards in Minneapolis, Minn.

While the marriage is not on the scale of Liz and Dick or even Tiny Tim and Miss Vickie, it will certainly interest the millions of viewers of "The Mary Tyler Moore Show."

The elusive Ted Baxter, newscaster without equal, has finally succumbed to matrimony with the faint-voiced but firm-willed Georgette, played by Georgia Engel.

"What I liked about the show (to be aired later this season)," says the unwilling bridegroom, in reality actor Ted Knight, "is that it is low-key."

"It happens more or less by chance, when Ted and Georgette are visiting Mary. He has had a wedding license for some time, but hasn't gotten the nerve to use it."

"It's all very informal. Lou (Edward Asner) drops by for a drink. Murray (Gavin McLeod) comes in shorts from his kid's Little League game. Sue Ann (Betty White) arrives and immediately starts whipping up hors d'oeuvres. It's all over before Ted realizes what has happened."

He added in comment more like Ted Baxter than Ted Knight. "Here in Georgia, who is 23, marrying a 50-year-old man and it seems convincing I find that heartening."

Knight has created such an indelible character of the preening, pompous anchor man of the Twin City channel that it is hard to remember that he is an actor.

There is a difference, not the least being the fact that Knight is already married and the father of three.

Ted Baxter, by Knight's analysis, is "vulnerable, sensitive, man who loves dogs and mother, self-centered, yet he doesn't set out to hurt anyone."

Ted Knight, on the other hand, is show-wise, ambitious, hard-working, professional.

While he likes Baxter, he admires "sometimes I get purple in the veins trying to make him work."

After a weekend as himself, he finds it difficult to arrive at MTM on Monday mornings and start the week of rehearsals for the Friday night filming.

For that and other reasons, he would like to part company with Baxter after two more seasons.

"I think the series should stop white we're still warm," he reasons.

TO WED: Viewers of "Mary Tyler Moore Show" later this season will see almost-unplanned marriage of faint-voiced but firm-willed Georgette Franklin and Ted Baxter, the show's preening, pompous "anchor man." (AP Wirephoto)

In an interview published today, Catherine Hearst said her daughter "is in and out of reality — and so nervous and pale. She's been through so much she doesn't seem herself, of course."

Today In History

By Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 23, the 268th day of 1975. There are 99 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 63 B.C., the first Roman emperor, Augustus Caesar, was born.

On this date: In 1780, during the American Revolution, the British spy, Major John Andre, was captured, and papers on him revealed Benedict Arnold's plot to surrender West Point to the British.

In 1806, the Lewis and Clark expedition to explore west of the Mississippi River was completed.

In 1845, the first U.S. baseball club, the New York Knickerbocker Club, was organized.

In 1951, Korean forces captured "Heartbreak Ridge" from the Communists.

In 1952, Vice Presidential candidate Richard Nixon went on nationwide radio and television to refute charges of wrong-doing in his campaign financing.

In 1973, former Argentine dictator Juan Peron was returned to power in Buenos Aires in a presidential election.

Prison Best For Me, Gunman Tells Judge

A Berrien Springs man just prior to sentencing told a Berrien Circuit court judge he realized a prison term would be in his best interest.

Judge Julian E. Hughes agreed and sentenced Larry Wayne Ternison to 5 to 25 years in prison.

Ternison, 25, of 610 North Main street, received the prison term for assault with intent to rob while armed. He assaulted Larry R. Murphy with a gun on July 20 at the Pacer gasoline station at 1507 North Front street, Niles. Murphy was not injured.

Ternison told Hughes he realized what he had done was wrong and that he would have to serve some time in prison, and added that he believed what was about to happen (the sentence) would be for the best in helping him to straighten out his life.

"I'm not going to bury you," Hughes told him in handing down the sentence, which could have been up to life in prison.

In sentences by Judge William S. White:

Vincent Carl Guidry, 21, of 937 Hull avenue, Benton Harbor, got 32 months to 4 years in prison for assault with a deadly weapon. He assaulted Esther Light with a 12 shotgun June 26 at K-mart in Benton Harbor. She was not injured.

White noted Guidry was on probation at the time of the offense, and added, "You haven't learned your lesson yet."

Jaime Sanchez, 33, of Chicago, was sentenced to 100 days in the county jail, with credit for 67 already served, for attempted larceny in a building — food items from the home of William Abel, at 284 US-12 Galien township, on July 17.

In arraignments before Judge Chester J. Byrns:

Thomas J. Lombardo, 18, of 2748 Hillendale road, Sodus township, pleaded guilty to larceny in a building — stealing rifles and a shotgun from the home of Jerry Engle, at 2828 Hillendale, between Dec. 14 and 30.

Junior F. Check, 23, of Covert, pleaded guilty to attempted forgery June 7 at Glynn's Gun shop in Watervliet, where he attempted to forge a check for $85.

Franklin Calhoun, 35, of 2418 Crawford drive, Benton township, pleaded innocent to a charge of perjury. He is accused of falsely testifying in Berrien Fifth District court on June 30 about his assets in requesting a court-appointed attorney. Calhoun allegedly said he had no assets, although the prosecution claims he owns a paid-up 1974 Cadillac and had a $30,000 bank account.

Dean Dorgelo, 21, of 822 Ship street, St. Joseph, pleaded guilty to attempted delivery of marijuana Oct. 2, 1974, in St. Joseph.

James H. McClinton, 21, no address available, pleaded innocent to a charge of malicious destruction of police property — a Benton Harbor police vehicle — Sept. 1 in the 900 block of Union street, Benton Harbor.

Carl A. Toffelmine, 24, of 109 Kimber lane, Berrien Springs, pleaded guilty to attempted breaking and entering Long's Standard station, at 16100 Red Arrow highway, Union Pier, on Sept. 1.

Lyle W. Davis, 52, of 1016 Bertrand road, Niles township, pleaded innocent to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon — a pistol — against David Rice and Timothy Battin Aug. 27 at 1010 and 1016 Bertrand road.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Continue To Slide

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed lower again today in a continuation of the profit-taking that set in Monday.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off about a point, and losers outnumbered gainers by about a 21 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted little in the economic news to prompt selling.

But they said it appeared traders had been discouraged by the market's failure to extend last week's rally in activity Monday.

Today's early prices included Honeywell, down 7¢ at 28¢; Transamerica Corp., down 14¢ at 74¢; Pacific Gas & Electric, off 16¢ at 194¢; and RCA 5¢ lower at 184¢.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 9.36 to 820.40.

Losers outnumbered gainers by about a 4-3 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index was off .39 at 45.14.

Big Board volume slowed to a moderate 14.75 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index managed a .04 gain to 84.60.

Bell Audit Shows Minor Fund Misuse

NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co. says an internal audit of its Bell Telephone System subsidiaries, including the Michigan branch, has found "scattered instances" of improper use of corporate funds, mostly for political purposes.

The partial disclosure Monday did not include the result of audits of the Southern and Southwestern Bell companies which are currently under government investigation for allegedly maintaining political cash funds.

In a letter to Bell subsidiary presidents, AT&T Chairman John D. DeBartolo said that "at this time" he would not comment on the results of these two audits because of the probes by grand juries in North Carolina and Texas and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The letter said: "The audit results for the rest of the Bell System, however, disclose no evidence whatsoever of any political patterns of practice indicating that Bell companies directly or indirectly applied corporate funds for political purposes."

For the 1971-74 audit period, DeBartolo said that the total amount improperly used — excluding Southern and Southwestern Bell — was $3,520. No single contribution involved more than $500 and most was used for purchase of tickets to state or local fund-raising dinners, he said.

The chairman added that the individuals involved had returned the money to the subsidiaries.

An AT&T spokesman said units involved were the Michigan, Pennsylvania, Illinois, New York, New England and South Central Bell Telephone companies.

What Happened to 'No-Fault Drive?

What has happened to the drive for "no-fault" auto insurance — the concept under which the burden of proving who was at fault in an auto accident is eliminated, lawsuits are limited to only the more serious injury cases and insurance dollars are spread more rapidly and more fairly among victims?

In 1970, Massachusetts became the first state to test no-fault. Florida followed in 1971. Connecticut, Michigan and New Jersey went along in 1972. The move to no-fault peaked in 1973 when six more states — Colorado, Hawaii, Kansas, Nevada, New York and Utah — passed no-fault laws.

And since then, the going has been slow. In 1974, only four states — Georgia, Minnesota, Pennsylvania and Kentucky — got no-fault. In 1975, only North Dakota has acted to bring the broader benefits to its motorists.

While eight other states have passed no-fault laws, these are dismissed as "bogus" by experts in the field, for they generally do no more than add a limited layer of coverage without any moves to control costs.

Thus, the discouraging answer to the question is:

Opposition from one major source — the personal liability bar.

And since the liability bar is heavily represented in the various state legislatures and no-fault strikes at the core of many lawyers' livelihoods (auto accident injury lawsuits), the lawmakers themselves have consistently attacked the concept and repeatedly been successful either in blocking entirely or substantially watering down no-fault bills in their own legislatures.

Unless those deeply in favor of no-fault become fully aware of what is at stake and take strong countermeasures to the personal liability lawyers' tactics, there is absolutely no reason to believe the lawyers will be less successful in the future than in the past.

The concept of no-fault auto insurance was introduced as far back as the 1890s — a full 40-plus years ago. The reform has been a major issue for the past 10 years — ever since law professors Robert Keeton and Jeffrey O'Connell, in a 1965 book, outlined the inequities in the fault system for paying auto accident damages and called for an overhaul.

Yet we — America's motorists — who stand to benefit so greatly from good no-fault legislation — are still waiting, waiting, waiting and paying.

Tomorrow: What, then, about Congress?

Dollar Rides High In Europe

By ED BLANCHE

Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Pushed upward by America's recovering economy, the U.S. dollar surged to new highs for the year on European foreign exchanges today.

Everyone's jumping on the dollar bandwagon," a London dealer reported amid heavy buying of the U.S. currency.

The ailing pound sterling plunged to an all-time low and gold hit a 20-month low in London.

The pound dropped to $2.0565 by midmorning after closing Monday at $2.0708.

The dollar bought 4.5607

French francs in Paris, its highest mark since Dec. 13. 2.0785 marks in Frankfurt, the highest level there since last September, and 680 lire in Milan, the best price this year.

Closing prices Monday had been 4.555 francs, 2.0568 marks and 684 lire.

In Zurich, the rise was moderate, from 2.731 Swiss francs to 2.737.

The dollar's resurgence is due primarily to signs that the United States is pulling out of the world recession faster than other industrial nations.

Dealers said the strengthening U.S. trade position and higher U.S. interest rates are also boosting the greenback revival after five troubled years.

An attempt by South Africa — which produces 80 per cent of the non-Communist world's gold — to check the three-week long slide in the price of the metal was only briefly successful.

The price closed at $135.30 Monday, after the Pretoria government devalued its currency, the rand, by 17.9 per cent, allowing it to withhold gold from the key Zurich market.

But the price fell back to $130 an ounce in Zurich today. It was quoted at $132.75 an ounce in London, down from $136.00 Monday, and $129 in Hong Kong, compared with $135.

Teachers To Delay Strike

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — A possible teachers strike has been averted for at least a week, with the Traverse City Education Association voting to give negotiators until Monday to reach an agreement. The teachers had said they would strike today if they didn't have a contract. However, association members voted Monday to send union official Joe Haines into a series of one-to-one meetings with Asst. School Supt. Gene Lawler to see if a head-to-head approach would be successful. Haines said if a contract cannot be ratified by Monday, a strike may result at that time.

FIRST MEETING

New Club Picks Business Topic

The first dinner meeting for the newly formed Communicator's Forum is scheduled for 6 p.m. Thursday at Berrien Hills Country club on Napier avenue, Fairplain.

Guest speaker will be James Dowling, executive vice president of Burson-Marsteller advertising and public relations agency based in Chicago.

Title of Dowling's talk is "Perspectives," and he will outline "what has happened to general business in the past 15 years."

Jan Rogacki of LECO Corp., one of the founders of the organization and dinner chairman, said Dowling will discuss what provoked the rapid changes and will take a look at what will happen to business in the next 20 years.

Of special interest to media people will be Dowling's evaluation of the roles communicators play in the changes.

Mrs. Rogacki said the meeting is open to anyone interested in becoming a member of the Communicator's Forum. Reservations are due by Wednesday. Mailing address is: Communicator's Forum, Box 655, St. Joseph.

Matt Helm, Swiss Family, Others Head For Oblivion

By JAY SHARbutt
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Okay, gang, time for the biannual Fearless Forecast in which we predict which of the 26 regularly-scheduled new series on television will prosper or poop out.

As in past years, the Forecast is conducted without reference to tea leaves, or their equivalent, the Nielsen ratings. All of it is, as Quasimodo might say, just a hunch. Here then, the Forecast:

SATURDAY — Howard Cosell, the Mouth that Roared, got off to a tame start with his live variety show. But it has promise and will do at least a season. Not so "Matt Helm," "Doc" also will turn his head, cough and expire shortly.

SUNDAY — "Swiss Family Robinson" will again be shipwrecked — or islandwrecked as the case may be — by January. "Family Holvak" will be similarly uprooted. "Bronk" may solve crimes, but he'll be gunned down by year's end. "Three for the Road," on the other hand, will pick up strength and wander about for at least a year.

MONDAY — "Barbary Coast" will soon leave San Francisco for the San Andreas Fault, but "Phyllis" might escape the Big Shake for a year. But only a year. "The Invisible Man," of course, hasn't a ghost of a chance.

TUESDAY — "Welcome Back, Kotter" is picking up script strength and will graduate to another season.

Veterans Day

Nov. 11 Again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Ford has signed legislation returning Veterans Day in Nov. 11 beginning in 1978.

The new law, which a White House spokesman said Ford signed last weekend, ends the practice established by Congress of celebrating the holiday on the last Monday of October.

The holiday honors the nation's military veterans.

"Joe and Sons" will last us long as Jerry Stiller is featured in it. "Switch" gets maybe a season, but "Beacon Hill," which started on the top, will be at the bottom by January, its characters more jumbled than now. "Joe Forrester," meanwhile, will pound the pavements into a second season.

WEDNESDAY — "When Things Were Rotten" will get Sherwood Forest defoliated, but it'll take a season. "Starky and Hutch" — yeah. Half a season. "Kate McShane" will lose her final case by midyear at about the same time "Doctor's Hospital" is closed.

THURSDAY — "On the Rocks" will pound its way to a second term, making big jokes out of little ones. "The Montefuscos" will be out of pasta by January, while the liberation of "Fay" will continue for at least a year. "Ellery Queen" also will last a year, but "Medical Story" will be DOA by mid-season, despite intensive efforts at script-to-mouth resuscitation.

FRIDAY — "Mobile One," about a TV reporter, probably will get the Big Story — about its cancellation — from the January newspapers. "Big Eddie," about an ex-gambler, may last a year if CBS lets Sheldon Leonard associate more with the spirit of Damon Runyon. If not, we make book this show won't even place in the mid-season Future.

We end the Fearless Forecast with a reminder to stay tuned for the big show... life is only the station break.

SKYHAWK COUPE: While classic styling of Buick's subcompact Skyhawk coupe shows little change for 1976, several optional features make it more distinctive. One is wide, brushed molding that wraps up over the roof and has Skyhawk emblem embossed on it. Heavily-tinted glass roof also is available as option. Skyhawk has V-6 engine.

National Guard Draws 'Battle' Plan

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Military strategists at Camp Grayling are planning how to lure the federally protected Kirtland's Warbler away from the camp's central tank range. But they're giving themselves 10 years to do it — and realize all their plans may fail. Basically, they're following a policy of containment. They hope to isolate the tiny birds in a six-square-mile stand of jackpines, the scraggly trees in which the birds live. But the birds prefer jackpine that are seven to 15 years old, and move on to other habitats when the trees are too old.

According to National Guard Brig. Gen. Floyd W. Radike, the Guard, working with Department of Natural Resources officials,

Something new has been added to our passbook savings...

25%

more interest
— and it's earned on a daily basis

October 1, ICB will start paying 5% interest to give you a 25% raise on your passbook savings... and this new, higher, annual interest rate will be earned on a daily basis, from day-of-deposit to day-of-withdrawal, to put even more dollars in your pocket.

For example, during a quarter if you have $300 in your regular savings account, then for a week you withdraw $250 to bring your balance down to $50. Many banks would give you credit for having only $50 in your account for the entire quarter, because they figure your interest on the low balance. But ICB would credit you with the interest on the full $300.

each day it's in your account... and on $50 for just the one week. So our daily interest credits you every day for every dollar you save.

Why should you be penalized when you need to use your money? Withdraw it when you need it... put it back when you don't.

So bring or mail us your authorization form, recently mailed to you, because we can't convert your passbook savings to 5% until you do.

And, if you presently don't have a passbook savings account at ICB, now's an excellent time to establish one, so your money can work harder for you. As little as a dollar opens your account
... bank and save at ICB, the action bank.
